Secretary Says Action Not In Conflict with President's Financial Policy
BUTLER ENTERS BILL
No Time Limit Is Provided In House Proposal for Construction of Craft

By THOMAS L. STOKES
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Secretary of the Navy Wilbur today transmitted to congress a naval building program providing for 71 new vessels costing nearly $800,000,000, with a letter stating that this program is "not in conflict with the financial program of the president."

This was the largest navy program submitted since 1916. A bill embodying the program was introduced immediately by Representative Butler, Republican, Pennsylvania, chairman of the naval affairs committee. The program provides 25 light cruisers, nine destroyer leaders, 32 submarines and five aircraft carriers.

No Time Limit Is provided for their construction. Under the terms of the bill, construction of light cruisers and aircraft carriers is subject to the Washington arms conference treaty of 1922. The president is empowered in the bill to suspend the program in whole or in part at his discretion.

Wilbur explained in a letter to Speaker of the House Longworth, transmitting the program, that the estimated cost is "merely speculative."

PRINCE ACQUITTED OF FRAUD CHARGES

MELUM, France, Dec. 14.—Prince Fernando De Bourbon, Duke of Dural and cousin of King Alfonso, of Spain, was acquitted here today of charges that he was a vagabond and swindler.

The picturesque young grandee of Spain still faced other charges and the prosecuting attorney, by announcing that he would appeal the case, prevented Fernando's immediate release.

Fernando arrived here several weeks ago with Count Jaime De Drican. Both were arrested on charges of beating hotel bills.

Count Jaime was given three months' imprisonment.

"If we're going to have a world's fair we're going to have the world's greatest world's fair or none at all," Big Bill declared.

EARLY STRIKE SETTLEMENT IS HOPE OF DAVIS

Expect Agreement Will Be Reached at Washington Conference
By LEE GEBHART
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Secretary of Labor Davis hopes to get striking soft coal miners back to the mines by Christmas.

He had an appointment today to meet a committee of United Mine Workers and bituminous operators, here for his conciliation conference, to work out a plan which he hoped would end the strike before the holiday.

With rumors of a congressional investigation of the bituminous situation if the present conference fails, it is expected an agreement will be reached.

The 25 operators here for the conference told Davis yesterday they would agree to any reasonable settlement. John L. Lewis.

SMALL TOWN GOSSIP CAUSE OF SUICIDE

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 14.—Mrs. Beulah Cleveland, 33 years old, former Sedalia, Mo., high school teacher, was in a hospital here today following a suicide attempt and her husband, Dr. Clyde Cleveland, 33, was being held at police headquarters in a near tragedy resulting from what the couple says was "small town gossip."

According to the husband the gossip started when a pupil of his wife spied them in a Kansas City hotel during the Thanksgiving holiday before they were married. His wife was returning to Sedalia from Chicago and met him at his hotel, Dr. Cleveland said. When she returned to Sedalia she heard gossip about them. Dr. Cleveland said they planned to get married Christmas but advanced the date to Friday of last week because of the gossip.

Morrow Selection To Be Favorably Reported Senate

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—The nomination of Dwight Morrow as ambassador to Mexico today was ordered favorably reported to the senate by the foreign relations committee.

Some objection to the appointment was expressed by individual senators, who reserved the right to oppose the nomination on the floor of the senate later if they desired. No record vote was taken in the committee.

The committee also took favorable action on appointment of Noble Brandon Judah, to be ambassador to Cuba, and Robert F. Olds, to be assistant secretary of state. Action was delayed on the nomination of Joseph C. Grew to be ambassador to Turkey.

Hill Declared Not Guilty of Criminal Act

Resigned Member of Shipping Board Will Not Be Prosecuted
(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Federal investigation of the actions of W. S. Hill, South Dakota, recently resigned as a member of the U. S. Shipping board, indicated he was "indiscreet" in accepting a loan from a private shipping concern, but that he was not guilty of violating any criminal statute, high government authorities said today.

Officials intimated that unless further investigation showed new developments, Hill would not be prosecuted. The former commissioner, it was explained, was in financial straits and accepted a loan from J. L. Bley, Washington agent of the American-Australian-Orient line, just before the board was to act on a matter concerning the steamship company.

AUTO TAX REPEAL VOTED BY HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—The house late today voted repeal of the three per cent automobile tax by a vote of 166 to 142 on an amendment offered by Representative McLaughlin, Republican, Michigan.

The vote was in committee of the whole and a roll call will be asked later by Republican leaders. The bill as drafted proposed a cut from the present three per cent to one and one-half per cent.

Democrats failed in an effort to repeal all theater admission taxes, the house defeating, 99 to 87, an amendment by Representative Rainey, Democrat, Illinois.

The house defeated, 191 to 51, an amendment to repeal the federal estate tax offered by Representative Merritt, Republican, Connecticut.

DEFENSE CLOSES IN BRADLEY CASE

COURTROOM, LAGRANGE, Texas, Dec. 14.—The defense closes in the trial of Rebecca Bradley Rogers, charged with robbing the Farmers National bank, at Buda, a year ago today.

Dr. J. W. Johnson, superintendent of the state insane hospital at San Antonio, was the closing witness. He testified in reply to a defense hypothetical question that the pretty University of Texas graduate was insane.

Pat Somerset's Bride Acquitted Of Drunk Charge

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 14.—Lack of evidence that she was intoxicated on her wedding night, won dismissal of drunk charges lodged against Shelby Somerset, 23-year-old bride of Pat Somerset, English matinee idol, here today.

The blonde "Texas Trilby" had demanded a trial by jury and when the case was called in municipal court, the city prosecutor moved that the charges be dismissed on the grounds that sufficient evidence to convict was lacking.

Mrs. Somerset and her husband were arrested in a Hollywood apartment when neighbors complained that a riotous time was being had by all at 3 o'clock in the morning. Somerset pleaded guilty and paid a fine, but his latest bride declared that "liquor had never touched her lips."

Police Sgt. F. M. Dent testified he warned a detective away from his beat because of robbers in the neighborhood. He identified Daniel Merritt, "N-20" of the jury trial, as the man who told him he

VALLI AND FARRELL BETROTHAL DENIED

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 14.—While gossip insists that Virginia Valli, screen actress, and Charles Farrell, actor, are engaged, the couple insist that if they are they know nothing about it.

"We are just good friends, that is all," explained Miss Valli. Farrell joined in the denial.

Girl Hurt When Horse Stumbled Asks $24,542.50

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 14.—Injured when the horse she was riding stumbled, Miss Adelaide Dowling, of Detroit, estimates the horse's misstep at $24,542.50, her suit on file in superior court here today indicated.

Because the accident occurred when the horse stepped on a railroad cross-tie, Miss Dowling named the Pacific Electric railway and the Los Angeles Riding academy, owners of the mount, as defendants.

Miss Dowling alleged she was riding along a bridge path when the horse's hoof caught on the ties, throwing her to the ground with such force that she suffered a fracture of the spine and serious internal injuries.

TO THE SUBSCRIBER:

A few days ago we made an announcement that it was possible that the subscription rate of The Register might have to be raised in view of the extensive service that The Register is rendering and aims to further render with the big feature Sunday paper that is being issued every Saturday evening.

At the time of the former announcement, we had not obtained data upon which we could base the price. We are able now to do this and announce that beginning with January 1, the price of The Register will be for night delivery at the homes, 75c per month in Orange County. By mail, paid in advance $8 per year. This increase does not cover the increased cost of the amount of white paper that will go into the Sunday edition.

With the present size of the Santa Ana Register together with the certainty of what is necessary to carry out plans which begin on the 17th of this month, the cost of the print paper alone that is furnished a single subscriber is 52c per month, saying nothing about all of the expenses incidental to the publication of the paper itself.

The increase which is suggested is the smallest amount possible to meet a portion of this extra cost. Between now and January 1st, those who desire to take advantage of the present rates that it will cost but 2 1/2c per week more than now. In the first zone outside of Orange county the mail rate will remain the same as at present.

REMUS IN CONTEMPT FOR ATTACKS ON PROSECUTOR

COURTROOM, Cincinnati, O., Dec. 14.—George Remus, on trial charged with the murder of his wife, today was found in contempt of court by Judge Chester R. Shook, because the defendant had made "unjustifiable attacks on the prosecutor."

Judge Shook deferred sentence until the conclusion of the trial.

Remus today had made another attempt to restrain Charles P. Taft, II, co-prosecutor, from "wilful, malicious, gross, unlawful and unethical intimidation and coercion" of defense witnesses.

Before the morning session of his trial on a charge of killing his wife, Remus went into another court, that of Judge Stanley Struble, and presented a petition similar to those denied Monday by the state supreme court and disregarded by Judge Chester R. Shook, trial judge.

The petition set forth that perjury indictments had been returned against Vernon R. Chumley, federal prisoner, and John S. Berger, Los Angeles exposition promoter.

The jurors, in walking from their hotel to the courtroom and back, must have seen the headlines in newspapers regarding the indictments, Remus argued, and hence the prosecutor's tactics have created prejudice.

SUCCEEDS AGAIN

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh dispersed the fears of an anxious world, early this afternoon, when he brought his famous plane, "Spirit of St. Louis," to the ground in Mexico City. The world was worried when "Lindy" failed to reach his goal by 2 o'clock, Mexican time, the time limit set by himself for his arrival there.

Thousands Rush Out on Field, Despite Police Effort to Hold Them Back, to Congratulate Brave American Flyer IN AIR 27 HOURS, 13 MINUTES

By G. F. FINE
United Press Staff Correspondent
MEXICO CITY, Dec. 14.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, here to receive Mexico's greetings as king of the air, arrived at Valbuena flying field at 2:39 p. m., today.

He had been overdue and the entire world had worried over his safety for hours. The "Spirit of St. Louis" first was sighted over the flying field at 2:30 p. m.

President Calles and American Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow were waiting in the presidential box on top of an airplane hangar.

Colonel Lindbergh's unofficial flying time from Washington to Mexico City was 27 hours and 13 minutes.

PRESIDENT IN MESSAGE LAUDS COL. LINDBERGH

Not all of the 25,000 enthusiastic Mexicans and Americans who had waited for Lindbergh and his plane throughout the morning remained at the field, but those who did made up the vociferousness of their welcome for all who had gone, discouraged and anxious, to their homes.

It was the climax of an exciting seven months during which a slim American, hardly more than a boy, had made aviation history. Since his departure from California in his then little known plane, Lindbergh had traversed the American continent; flown the Atlantic to Paris and London; taken his plane on a tour of the United States that included every state, and linked the United States and Mexico in the first non-stop flight between the respective capitals.

Again Victorious
America's aerial ambassador had come victorious from what many had come to fear was certain disaster.

Unconfirmed reports of his progress has been reported throughout the morning, but nothing definite came. Planes had gone out from here and Tampico to seek him. The Spirit of St. Louis flashed into sight across the horizon when the most optimistic were beginning to abandon hope for his safety.

The plane circled the field lengthily. It was evident that Lindbergh was taking no chance of landing

United Mine Workers chief, said his faction was anxious to end the eight-month controversy and that they hoped for early settlement.

Davis issued a statement at the end of yesterday's session saying "considerable progress was made." He said both groups expressed "earnest hope that some constructive program might be arrived at."

Davis believes the industry suffers from over-development and over-production. He said this means keen competition and uncertain profits for operators and intermittent work and wage controversies for mine workers.

"The truth," he said, "is that operators and miners are both victims of the same set of conditions. The trouble has been that instead of fighting the conditions, each party has been fighting the other."

was a salesman and that he had an appointment with a man named Ruddy, also a salesman. (C. G. Ruddy was chief of the Burns agents spying on the jurors.)

A parade of Burns agents to the witness stand was on today. Defense lawyers served notice they intended to move to strike out all of Sergeant Dent's evidence.

Frank J. O'Reilly, most trusted of the Burns detectives hired to shadow Fall-Sinclair jurors, was dramatically confronted in court today by the father and mother of Juror Edward Kidwell.

O'Reilly, a witness in the Sinclair-Burns contempt trial, said he remembered talking with the elder Kidwell—one of his "contacts" in the jury espionage.

anywhere but at the spot he picked as best.

The scene was that of Lindbergh's former triumphs—Paris, towns in 48 states where he had been royally received.

But this time there was the added excitement because of the fear that had been felt for him.

39 Minutes Behind Schedule

He arrived 39 minutes behind what he had estimated as the outside time for his arrival.

As Lindbergh landed gracefully on the field, thousands of the people who had remained stubbornly to wait for him, rushed on to the field despite efforts of police and soldiers to hold them.

Three bands struck up the Star Spangled Banner.

The surging crowd, hysterical with enthusiasm, broke toward him and isolated his plane in the center of a throng of worshippers who threatened to overwhelm him.

Lindbergh sat in the cockpit, placidly awaiting arrival of the soldiers and police. He stuck his head from a side window and responded with a smile to the frenzied shouts of his admirers.

Averts Accidents

Several serious accidents barely were averted as the crowd dashed under the path of the alighting plane.

Lindbergh, seeking his spot as he was forced to do at Croydon, England, and Paris in similar situations, circled and came down perfectly.

Motorcycle police went around the field trying to round up the crowd and riding daringly under escorting planes to keep them from landing and possibly killing scores of people.

As the crowd broke over the field tremendous clouds of dust rose from the sunbaked earth.

The hand switched to the stirring "Stars and Stripes Forever."

Forgers of the documents are known, it is related. One of them is an American, but according to information given the committee they all are members of an international band of forgers of state papers.

State Department Informed

The state department has gained knowledge of the papers, it was said and it was intimated it has possession of some, if not all of them.

The matter was divulged when the committee met to consider the Reed, Missouri resolution for investigating a set of allegedly forged papers now being published in Hearst newspapers.

No action was taken upon the resolution in view of the startling information given the committee. It was decided to wait to see how far the investigation, which is to be opened here tomorrow by the special Reed, Pennsylvania, committee, goes.

NEW ATTEMPTS AT ENDURANCE MARK DELAYED

(By United Press)

OAKLAND AIRPORT, OAKLAND, Dec. 14—Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith and Lt. George Pond today were again forced to postpone their attempt to break the world's endurance flight record in their Fokker monoplane, "Spirit of California."

Heavy rain that swept central California last night left the runway too soft for the eight-ton plane to attempt a takeoff.

The attempt will be made, according to Lieutenant Pond, as soon as weather conditions permit.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Dec. 14—William S. Brock and Edward F. Schlee, Detroit flyers, postponed until tomorrow their projected endurance flight in the "Pride of Detroit" when a test plane, which took the air early today, reported winds too adverse to warrant taking up the heavily laden monoplane.

Lindbergh reached the presidential box on the shoulders of radiantly proud Mexicans of all degrees, closest to him of the milling thousands on the field.

He was assured within a few minutes of his arrival at the presidential box that his beloved plane—the greatest one in point of accomplishment since the first that ever flew—was safe in his hangar.

Lindbergh appeared not to realize that he, himself, was the reason for all the cheering and general excitement.

Will Rogers Says "Hello"

When Calles and Morrow had finished greeting him, Will Rogers, American cowboy comedian, credited here with suggesting to President Calles that Lindbergh be invited to make the flight, approached and shook hands.

Lindbergh was greeted by various cabinet members, members of the chamber of deputies and other officials in the presidential box.

The greetings over, Lindbergh, protected by members of the presidential guard and surrounded by a cavalcade of mounted troops, left for the American embassy, where he was to be the guest of Ambassador Morrow.

Guards surrounded him so quickly when he left the presidential box that newspapermen were unable to approach and find what had caused him to be late. It was assumed that reports of his having been astray over Guanajuato were correct.

Additional Building Funds Bill Reported Favorably

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—The Reed bill, authorizing an additional $100,000,000 for public building construction throughout the country was reported favorably to the house today by the public building committee.

This bill carries merely a flat authorization and does not specify any project.

The postmaster general and secretary of the treasury, under new procedure, would submit a list of projects after congress votes authorization. The list then would require congress' approval.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Additional legislation by congress is necessary before the navy department can negotiate contracts for construction of two six-million cubic foot dirigibles authorized last session. Assistant Secretary of the Navy Warner, in charge of aviation, told the house naval affairs committee today.

Under date of Dec. 13, 1927, the director of the budget bureau advised the navy department that he had been instructed to advise the navy department that the proposed legislation is not in conflict with the financial program of the president.

NOTED PIANIST TO PLAY WITH S. A. SYMPHONY

BY RUTH ANDREWS
Music lovers of Santa Ana and neighboring southland communities eagerly anticipate the opening concert of the winter series of symphonic programs, which Santa Ana Philharmonic society will offer, under Director D. C. Cianfoni, tomorrow evening, in Santa Ana High School auditorium, at 8 p. m., free to the public.

Among other features, the appearance of Boris Myronoff, noted Russian concert pianist and radio artist of KFI, in the famous E flat Concerto by Franz Liszt, accompanied by the orchestra, promises a memorable musical event.

Famed as a pianist of exceptional ability and brilliant technique, throughout European countries where he has toured extensively, Myronoff has won unusual honors in musical centers of Germany, Italy, and Russia. He was formerly director of the Imperial Music school in Ouman, Russia, also director of the Odessa conservatory, and is at present director of the Russian Academy of Musical Art in Los Angeles, associated with Alexander Borisoff, renowned cellist and Mischa Spigler, violinist, pupil of Leopold Auer.

Recent radio programs presented over KFI each Friday evening by Myronoff are eliciting widespread enthusiastic comment, due to his sympathetic insight and delicacy of understanding with which his interpretations are invested. Recent classic masterpieces of Brahms and Liszt have been among the finest musical treats ever broadcast from the Los Angeles station.

Not only famed for pianistic genius, but also regarded by critics of authority as a composer of fine foresight and originality, Myronoff ranks high among exponents of the modernistic style of composition. His well-known Sonata, which he often performs publicly, reveals obvious individuality and keen artistic feeling.

Unusual technical ability and skill make especially fitting Myronoff's performance of the E Flat Concerto by Franz Liszt, whose marvelous genius as composer and virtuoso, won for him during his lifetime the frenzied acclaim of adoring multitudes, now occupies a foremost place among the world's "greatest" of all time. Blending the fire and abandonment of an unusually dynamic, passionate nature into many vividly emotional masterpieces, the Concerto

CHILD RELIEF IS DISCUSSED BEFORE ROTARY

"Solution of the problem of the crippled child can lie only in an effort which proposes to bring the greatest good to the greatest number of crippled children, and which looks forward to the time when the causes of crippling conditions will be greatly reduced and ultimately eliminated."

This is what Miss Bertha Strange, executive secretary of the California Society for Crippled Children told Rotarians in an address at the meeting of the club here yesterday.

She declared it is imperative that the society have a widely-distributed membership in order for it to arouse and guide public interest in an adequate solution of the problem of California's estimated 15,000, or more, physically handicapped minors.

"The members of this society must be interested not only in promotion of local work but must also appreciate fully the importance of giving time and contributing money to the co-ordination, on a state-wide basis, of all efforts in behalf of physically handicapped children," Miss Strange said.

"Local surveys, and public clinics in rural communities, and educational facilities must be eliminated, fostered and standardized. There must be a carefully worked out plan for the proper administration of legislation."

In discussing Assembly bill 185 and Senate bill 630, the secretary pointed out that "the law does not take care of the child—the law is merely an instrument by means of which a crippled child may receive care."

She pointed out that the assembly bill sets up the administrative machinery whereby the needy physically defective child may receive such physical care and treatment as can be rendered with the treatment at hand; the state board of health is authorized to arrange through local agencies for public diagnostic clinics; to co-operate with the board of supervisors and state department of public welfare in making use of existing hospital facilities; carries an appropriation of $20,000 for administrative purposes covering a period of two years, and also the use of a $25,000 revolving fund from which the state board of health may authorize payment for care; the per capita cost is to be charged back to the county in which the parents or legal guardians of the child reside; the county board of supervisors may also levy a special tax

Plans are under way today for a study in Santa Ana and vicinity with reference to the development of the proposed new junior college, as a result of a decision made at the meeting of the board of education last night.

J. A. Cranston, superintendent of schools, announced the signing of a contract with two expert investigators whereby the work will start in the near future. BANK ROBBER IS HELD OVER TO HIGH COURT

J. H. McClure, 23 year-old Long Beach bank bandit, who was captured in the Citizens' bank, at Garden Grove, on December 6, after he had scooped up $4,500 of the bank's money, today waived preliminary examination in Justice Morrison's court and was held to answer to the superior court.

Bail, fixed at $25,000, at the time he was arraigned, was held sufficient.

McClure was captured after Deputy Sheriff Henry Blaeholder, of Garden Grove, had shot him in the hand with a .22 rifle, as the bandit hurried to leave the building, after locking L. W. Schauer, cashier, and other bank employees in the vault. The money was said to have been found in McClure's pockets. McClure offered no resistance after the officer shot.

The bandit changed attorneys between the time he was arraigned and today. L. A. Leonard, Long Beach attorney, represented him at the arraignment. Today he was represented by W. Maxwell Burke, Los Angeles, who formerly was a deputy district attorney there.

FIREMEN MEET AND HEAR TALK ON INSURANCE

The insurance bill of municipalities of Orange county could be materially reduced if proper facilities for fighting conflagrations were provided and maintained, according to declarations made in an address by L. F. Brown, fire insurance inspector with a Los Angeles brokerage firm, delivered last night at the meeting of the Orange County Firemen's association at Laguna Beach.

Brown formerly was with the engineering department of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, and has had a wide experience in dealing with fire problems and has made observations as to conditions obtaining in many communities. He has at times made surveys of Santa Ana and other Orange county cities.

The speaker did not disparage the existing companies, but pointed out that better water facilities, full complement of men in the departments and thoroughly trained fire fighters would be effective in lowering the premium rates in the cities of the county.

He stressed the point that, as a rule, city councilmen are not in close touch with the departments as to the apparatus and needs of the fire fighting companies.

"Councilmen usually have to be educated to the needs of a department before they appropriate money for equipment that should be provided," Brown said, and he added that "councilmen should get better acquainted with the personnel of the companies."

Henry Meehan, captain of the Orange county motorcycle squad, talked briefly, promising every assistance to fire fighters by his organization. T. J. Robeson, assistant chief of the department at Buena Park, read a paper on extinguishers, and Roy Davis, chief at Fullerton, gave a lecture on "gas and oil fires."

The Anaheim department was admitted to membership in the association.

The firemen were entertained by piano solos by F. W. Cuprien, dancing solos by Halmar Forrest and vocal selections by his father, Hal Forrest. Mrs. Forrest accompanied her husband and played for her daughter's dancing.

Approximately 100 persons were present, the guests including representatives from most of the city councils.

The January meeting of the organization will be held at Fullerton on a date to be decided later.

BAPTIST MEN'S CLUB PROGRAM HELD TUESDAY

The Men's Club of the First Baptist Church held a unique program at its supper and monthly meeting last night, at which 40 men were present. The holiday spirit was carried out in the decorations and at each place was a shopping bag and samples of many kinds and description. The bags contained samples of breakfast foods, candies, balloons, and even dog and cat food.

Several members brought oranges, chicken-feed and beans. There were sample insurance policies, Highway maps and copies of the Motor Vehicle act. Each one present took home his shopping bag and a goodly portion of the samples. The Rev. Herman J. Powell read the Christmas story from Luke and Dr. Geo. E. Burlingame, acting pastor of the church, speaker of the evening, gave a most interesting and delightful address on "As Per Sample," driving home the fact that each person is "but a sample of the Christ whom we should endeavor to emulate in our every day life."

Miss Mame Havens and the Misses Emilina Richards, Peggy Warburton and Rose Marie Smith furnished the music consisting mostly of instrumental Christmas carols.

The next meeting of the club will be the evening of January 16 at which time Dr. John Snape, former pastor of the Tenth avenue Baptist Church of Oakland and more recently from the Cleveland, Ohio, church will be the honored guest and speaker for the evening.

Winners In Radio Contest Engaged For Opera Work

Evans contracted to be general male understudy in the same show.

Under their contracts, both young singers will be permitted to continue their music studies.

CALL CABINET BEFORE SENATE MEMBER URGES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—(United Press)—At least one member of the United States congress desires the opportunity to summon members of the president's cabinet before congress to discuss matters of importance in their departments.

The inquisitive member is Clyde Kelly, a Republican of Pennsylvania, Secretary Mellon's home state. Kelly has announced his intention to submit a bill to the house of representatives to enable cabinet members to be brought to the house floor for questioning. Such a bill was submitted during the Harding administration but cabinet officers were unanimously opposed to the proposition that they should be in attendance on congress twice a week.

Preliminary discussion of Kelly's proposal, which apparently has but scant chance of becoming a law, revealed the little known fact that at least one member of the president's cabinet has been held liable to the call of congress. In 1879 the house of representatives drew up a rule providing that the secretary of the treasury might be summoned to the floor of the house. Kelly said this rule still was in effect. It never has been put to use.

Compared with the lot of an English or continental minister of government, that of a member of a United States cabinet is comparatively an easy one. On occasion a cabinet member may be summoned before a committee of either house of the congress but he never is subjected to the sometimes painful ordeal of defending an unpopular policy before the full membership of either house. And it frequently happens that a cabinet member may shift the burden of the burden to a subordinate before a committee. Thus, when the house ways and means committee was framing the tax bill before the present congress convened, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon was in attendance but much of the parrying of difficult questions fell upon his undersecretary, Ogden Mills. There was no disposition among the committee, either, to interpret this as a slight to their dignity as has been the case sometimes in the British commons where the responsible minister permitted a subordinate in the government to speak for him.

The existing protection raised around the president and members of his cabinet against inquisitions at the hands of the congress has created a situation in Washington in which the most constant communication between the people and the administrative heads of the government is maintained in an informal way through representatives of the press.

MAN DIES TRYING TO SAVE SAVINGS

RUNNEMEDE, N. J., Dec. 14.—A desperate attempt to save a year's Christmas savings cost the life of Otto Manuwal, 59, as flames destroyed his home near here.

Firemen rescued his wife, Irene, 60, who was put under a doctor's care after having been carried from the house three times in her effort to save her husband. Each time she ran back.

She said her husband had gone into the flames to attempt to save a chest containing the family valuables, including $80 which had been saved to buy Christmas gifts.

His body was found later in the ruins.

Death Sentence For County Jail Is Recommended

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 14.—One of America's oldest institutions—the county jail—is recommended for a death sentence by a group of New York state criminologists.

A sub-committee of the Baumes crime commission, in a report on New York prison conditions, said, in effect, that not only were penal institutions failing to accomplish their purpose in society, but that living behind the bars was too cruel for the twentieth century criminal.

Abolition of jails, better entertainments for convicts, college educations instead of "kindergarten training" in the prison schools and fewer penitentiary terms were among the reforms advocated.

The state is remiss in its duty in dealing with, not criminals but "personalities inclined or projected into criminal behavior," the report said.

RESIDENTS OF LA HABRA HURT IN ACCIDENT

An automobile accident near Lordsburg, New Mexico, may result in the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Curry, prominent La Habra residents, who are in Lordsburg hospital suffering from serious injuries, according to a telegram received today by Mrs. C. B. Lee, of La Habra, a relative.

Curry, who is manager of the La Habra Ice company, is suffering from a skull fracture. Mrs. Curry has a broken collarbone and a deep gash over her left eye. One of their sons, who was in the car with his parents, escaped without injuries.

The Currys were returning by automobile from a trip east, having left La Habra several weeks ago.

No details of the accident were given in the telegram. Two of the Curry children remained with Mrs. Lee during the absence of their parents.

WORLD TROUBLES PASTOR'S TOPIC

The Rev. Graham C. Hunter, pastor of the Fullerton Presbyterian church, spoke last night before the Fullerton International relations council on recent unrests in foreign countries and the United States.

The Rev. Mr. Hunter was one of five men recently to complete a tour of Europe in study of conditions with the idea of promoting worldwide peace, especially on religious questions. He was delegated by the American commission on rights of religious minorities.

"Riots in Roumania are sign of a wrong phychology which affects not only that country, but Hungary, Germany and even, though on a much smaller degree, our own nation," said the Rev. Mr. Hunter.

The speaker declared that reports of recent religious troubles here and abroad appeared to originate from a narrowly nationalistic and racial movement, which he believed to center in the universities.

STOCKHOLDER'S CLAIM STUDIED IN OIL CASE

Superior Judge G. W. Freeman, of Riverside, today took under advisement an attempt of George Cunningham, a stockholder of the Pacific corporation, to collect several thousand dollars as his asserted share of a $180,000 judgment rendered against the former managers of the company three years ago.

Judge Freeman is hearing the case in place of Superior Judge Homer G. Ames, who is not acting. It is said, because Superior Judge James L. Allen is one of the trustees against whom the demand for payment is directed.

J. L. Davis, representing the trustees from whom Cunningham wishes to collect, made a motion to quash when the case began yesterday. The legal aspect of this motion is believed to be the main consideration in deciding the case. Davis argued that the court had no jurisdiction in making the original order.

The controversy arose out of a case in which A. J. Charlie, another stockholder, secured a $180,000 judgment against Louis Klein, deinst and B. F. Parrott, former managers, who were accused of misappropriating the company funds. Cunningham was not one of the 150 plaintiffs for whom Charlie was acting, and therefore, it is held, he cannot collect a share of the damages.

Superior Judge James L. Allen, David Fulwider and Charlie are the trustees, who were ordered to appear yesterday in regard to Cunningham's demand for payment. Judge Allen and Davis were law partners when the judgment was rendered.

Spoke Too Much, So Wife Is Held In Murder Case

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 14.—If Mrs. Myrtle Withey had informed herself regarding duties of the county coroner before allegedly committing murder she probably would have been free to marry a suspected "third party," it was declared by authorities here as investigation into the case continued.

After telling the attending physician she believed her husband, William 24, died from effects of a bowl of chili he had eaten, Mrs. Withey is said to have become afraid the doctor would not accept the diagnosis and so added to probable cause of his death injuries he sustained in an automobile accident a short time before.

Regulations of the coroner make compulsory inquest into all accidental deaths and the post-mortem that followed developed the poison theory that resulted in Mrs. Withey's arrest.

The widow is being held under $50,000 bond, awaiting preliminary hearing December 17.

Policeman Wins Speech Contest

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 14.—A policeman, a student, an osteopath, a painter, a paper hanger, an insurance salesman and an electrician contended here for honors in a public speaking contest.

The policeman won and was followed by a student, a junior in high school. The insurance salesman "also spoke."

Newspapers Bring Christmas Cheer To Poor Families

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 14.—Newspapers in Kansas City are instrumental these days dispensing Christmas cheer. The "neediest families" are being remembered. Stories about more than 100 poverty-stricken families were published. A suggestion was made to the public that people who could afford it "adopt" a needy family this Christmas.

The condition of the different families was stated in the stories and the stories were captioned by numbers. Then, those who wished to "adopt" a family applied by number to the newspaper that printed the story.

On the first day for "adoption" 55 families were assured of Christmas cheer before nightfall.

Mrs. Maher, who was known to her Santa Ana friends as Mrs. Louise Jamar, was killed Saturday afternoon by a truck which struck her as she was crossing a street in Redondo. She was rushed to a Redondo hospital but lived only one hour after the accident.

Mrs. Maher is survived by her husband, Frank Maher, and several children who reside in San Pedro and Los Angeles except for Tim Jamar who lives in this city.

Mrs. Sarah Blum Hurt In Mishap

Mrs. Sarah Blum, 1049 West Chestnut street, suffered from nervous shock following an automobile accident yesterday at Sixth and Main streets, when her machine collided with a car driven by Mrs. Kathryn Griffin, 230 South Beaudry avenue, Los Angeles, according to a report filed with the city police.

She was taken to a nearby physician's office and later removed to her home.

Jury Will Decide If Women's Death Murder Or Suicide

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 14.—A jury will decide whether Mrs. Elsie Holt Snipes, 32, music teacher, killed herself or was shot to death by John Esley Faison, 31, former manager of the Meritage Country club.

She died in her apartment November 16. Faison, with her at the time, is charged with murder. He contends Mrs. Snipes committed suicide.

The theory of the prosecution is that Faison shot the talented musician in a jealous rage. He had promised to marry her if he could divorce the mother of his five children, the state holds.

EXCHANGE CLUB TO INAUGURATE OFFICERS SOON

C. D. Swanner, John Ott and Ed Pettitt were named yesterday by the Santa Ana Exchange club as a committee to arrange for a party for inauguration of new officers of the club, who will take up their work the first meeting in January. The committee will name the date and the place for the affair, which, in all probability, will be a stag party.

Stanley Clem and Pettitt were authorized to make plans for meeting of the club members at Forest Home some week end, immediately after the first of the year.

The program of yesterday was impromptu, with Secretary Gene Douglass reviewing some of the activities of the club the past year, and George Natzel, a guest, who made a short talk.

Douglass pointed out that the club has been contributing $25 a month to support of settlement work among the Mexicans under direction of the Americanization department of the public schools, in addition to other sums contributed at different periods of the year. An appropriation of $50 was made yesterday for special Christmas work by the Americanization department.

H. H. Williamson, city councilman of Newport Beach, was present as a member of the club at the beach city, and spoke briefly on the value of members visiting other clubs.

Bags Made By Convicts Sold For $400,000

SAN QUENTIN, Calif., Dec. 14.—Every particle of raw material brought to the jute mill at the state prison here is utilized. Not a thread or scrap of dust goes to waste.

This achievement, goal of all managers and department heads in commercial houses, is made possible by the strict enforcement of rules and regulations in the mill and by the scientific use of every product and by-product.

Although 3,500,000 jute bags are manufactured annually, this is not the only product. More than 150,000 bean bags, in addition to 1500 gopher bags, are made each year by the convicts.

The products of the mill bring in a revenue of $400,000 at present prices. More than 1000 prisoners are engaged in work at the jute mill. Their products go direct to the consumer, thus cutting out the middleman and giving the product to the farmer at a minimum cost. The Watterson brothers, bank embezzlers from Inyo county, are the latest additions to the staff in the mill, called by the convicts "Calcutta" because the raw jute is shipped from Calcutta, India.

CHINA ASKS U. S. TO BE PATIENT

GENEVA, Dec. 14.—China slowly will become progressive and united in a republic, since the now struggling parties believe in virtually the same principles, says Tcheng Loh, Chinese delegate to the League of Nations, now serving as president of the league council. Saying China's more than 400,000,000 have the warmest feeling of friendship for the United States which they consider their first and best friend, Tcheng Loh addressed an appeal to the American people asking them to have patience with China in its distress and civil war.

"Above all tell the American people there is absolutely no possibility of China becoming communist," said Tcheng. "The world may have forgotten but in the ninth century, during the reign of Emperor Wang Anshih of the Sung dynasty, the premier tried to impose communism on the people by apportioning the land, but the government was overthrown and the premier always deemed a traitor."

Tcheng Loh voiced confidence in the League of Nations as an instrument of peace and said he is convinced the Polish-Lithuanian crisis will be adjusted.

Curfew Hour Is Told By Radio

INGLEWOOD, Dec. 14.—The age of materialism has made another advance upon this small city, which has heretofore clung to most of the "old fashioned" ways of doing things, for be it known, the nightly curfew tolls no more, the radio having taken its place.

The city council at a meeting, decided that the curfew custom was a "superfluous anachronism," a term capable of stopping any curfew. They placed a sign on the curfew siren which reads "For use only in case of fire."

Every night at 9 o'clock, instead of a siren blast, Inglewood radio in the chamber of commerce, will announce curfew hour.

"But how are the kids to know when it is time to go home?" some one asked the city marshal. "They'll have to carry portable receiving sets," was the laconic reply.

Soda Pop Used To Put Out Fire

WATSONVILLE, Dec. 14.—A bottle of soda pop proved an effective substitute for a fire extinguisher by a party of young people who were driving home from Eureka canyon. A wire of their car became short circuited and set the rubber insulation on fire. One of the boys grabbed a bottle of soda water, shook it violently and turned it loose on the blaze. The fire was extinguished.

LOCAL COUPLE IS CAUGHT IN HARD BLIZZARD

Snowbound in Southern California, or the warming of a frozen romance, might be the title of a story told today by two local men who have just returned from the Valley of the Moon, near Lake Arrowhead, after their car was snowed in and they walked 15 miles to safety.

Ed Gretton and Bill Ashford, local Solots, drove to their cabin over the week-end, hoping to bring back a tree for Christmas lodge festivities. They didn't get the tree.

The snow, was pretty thick, according to their story, when they found a young Los Angeles couple in a light automobile on their way in. Their car had refused to proceed. Supposedly that is when the romance froze up. For the girl, Miss Rhoda Klinck, was not dressed for a blizzard. Her fiancé, whose last name was reported as Dean, was helplessly kicking at the snow under the wheels of the car. It is believed that he was not very popular with his sweetheart at that time.

Gretton and Ashford offered assistance, but the couple declined, and the local men went on. Next day they learned the rest of the story. The Los Angeles pair abandoned their machine and reverted to the primitive substitute of walking. Miss Klinck's shoes were very light, her stockings no thicker and her dress no longer than is customary.

The falling snow obscured their view of cabins along the path in which they might have found shelter and they trudged for miles before they found a refuge.

Bill H. Large, custodian of the resort, saw a lonely column of smoke rising from the chimney of the fireplace in the clubhouse early last Sunday morning and investigated. Large reported that Miss Klinck was considerably perturbed. She was, in fact, scared.

"Well, what else could they have done?" Large reflected, and tried to calm the girl as best he could. They had to keep warm in that country and certainly no one would have wanted them to spend the night in the snow.

That night Miss Klinck's brother, Hoyt Klinck, a Los Angeles attorney, returned to the scene. The trio walked to his car, again over the snow, and returned to Los Angeles. Klinck had been at his cabin when the storm started. He left while he was sure he could get out. It is thought that he passed the young couple on the road when they were on their way to visit him.

Gretton and Ashford are planning to return again to get a Christmas tree and their car. They hope that then the frozen romance, like the ground and snow, will be thawed. Their own 15-mile walk to San Bernardino in order to get transportation home is a minor part of the story, according to them.

WHEN SHOPPING—think of telephone convenience.

At this season, multitudes of minds are centered on a common thought—the spirit of giving. And so, despite the plea of merchants to "shop early", crowds of eager people fill our streets and stores in a hurried, last minute search for gifts.

To avoid the bustling crowds, many clear thinking people turn to the telephone to help them locate just the gift they are looking for; or when time is a factor, to make or rearrange social engagements, to call the folks at home if they are delayed, and for many other uses both at this season and throughout the year.

Public telephones are located everywhere for your convenience.

MALES DON'T LIKE WOMEN IN CONGRESS, SAYS MRS. NORTON

By THOMAS L. STOKES

United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—"Men don't want women in congress and don't you think they do..."

Thus spoke a woman member who is starting her second term, Mrs. Mary T. Norton, Democrat, of New Jersey.

But the men have come to accept the inevitable and now regard women as a part of things on Capitol Hill, according to Mrs. Norton, and this view was echoed by a woman Republican member who also is beginning her second term—Mrs. Florence P. Kahn, of California.

Mrs. Norton gave an illustration. "I felt like a regular member for the first time when I made my speech advocating increased tax exemptions, though I have served for a whole term," she said. "Last term I was a lady member and so treated. But when I spoke this time they rode rough-shod over me."

Decisively Defeated Her amendment was defeated decisively.

"I felt like a regular member and I like it better that way," she explained. "I don't believe in any discrimination because of sex."

Now that she is accepted as a regular member, Mrs. Norton threatens spirited action.

"I got mad when they beat my amendment, because I believed in it so; I wanted to say some things, but I restrained myself," she said. "But I may break out some day."

She chuckled at the prospect.

Wants More Women

"I'd like to see more women members and there will be more," she mused. "I'd like to see more women, because then we'll have some real human legislation."

It's that type of legislation the women's bloc in congress will work for this session, according to a canvass among the four, Mrs. Norton, Mrs. Kahn, Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers, Republican, of Massachusetts, and Mrs. Katherine W. Langley, Republican, of Kentucky. They have places on committees that deal with war veterans, relief, pensions and women's and children's legislation.

Interested in Veterans

Mrs. Rogers, who is a member of the ex-service men's organization in congress because of her interest in veterans' legislation, also is interested in trade development as it affects her own section, New England. Mrs. Kahn said she would work for reapportionment legislation, in order to give California the representation its population demands. She is a member of the census committee which will draft the bill.

Both Mrs. Rogers and Mrs. Norton are on the veterans' committee which drafts legislation for veterans' relief.

PLEA MADE FOR OLD CLOTHES FOR POOR

Shoes and clothes are badly needed by the aid department of the Santa Ana Salvation Army home here, according to Captain William DuTemple.

Persons who have old shoes and clothing are asked to call the Salvation Army and someone will be sent for the articles.

Christmas presents to a number of poor persons will be in the form of these second hand clothes and shoes and Captain DuTemple asked today that the contributions be as numerous as possible.

White Man Sells Indians Bonnets

FLORENCE, Colo., Dec. 14.—Such a change has civilization wrought that the once savage Indian now buys his colorful war bonnets, his beaded vests and his moccasins from a white man.

Robert F. Backus has turned to profit his hobby of collecting Indian curios and making Indian head dresses and native garments, and orders come to him from the Sioux and many other western tribes, as well as from motion picture companies. All his materials, including golden eagle feathers, are gathered in Colorado.

Last summer he was called upon to supply the selected eagle feathers, beaded buckskin and other materials which went into the war bonnet presented to President Coolidge in the Black Hills by Princess Rosebud Yellow Robe. The famous head dress was valued at $2500.

The Santa Ana post will participate with a number of other Legion posts, throughout Southern California, in the Tournament of Roses parade in Pasadena at the first of the year, it was announced today.

Fifty posts will present their colors in the parade and will represent almost all of Southern California's ex-service men. The massed colors will be in honor of National Commander E. E. Spafford, who will be a guest in Pasadena on New Year's day.

The "Forty and Eight" and the Disabled Veterans here also are asked to have their colors in the parade, it was said.

A meeting of the Disabled "Vets" will be held at the Legion home on Birch street tonight. The auxiliary will meet with the organization, according to Jack Fisher, first vice commander.

E. H. Risdon, editor of the American Legion Weekly Bulletin, Los Angeles, was in Santa Ana last week. He was among the scores of visitors who attended the Christmas party.

A proposal to take a vote of Legion men throughout the country on the "wet and dry" issue, if there so be one, failed to stir up any interest here, so far as getting the "gang" to talking. Several members interviewed, failed to show any particular interest.

Commander E. E. Spafford proposed to hold the election on or about May 15, 1928.

Now that the Christmas party is a thing of the past, and a success if the Santa Ana post ever had one, the new year, just around the corner, looks more rosy than ever, says Charles Van Wyk, commander.

BAGS BIG COYOTE FROM RUNNING CAR

One of the largest coyotes seen in Orange county in several years was shot and killed by F. W. Howard, chief criminal deputy sheriff, several nights ago, as he was riding along the Santa Ana-Laguna Beach road.

Although the car was running along at 35 miles an hour, Howard's first shot, taken when the coyote appeared in the rays of the car's lights, knocked him down.

Two other well aimed shots ended his career.

The animal was larger than any police dog seen here, and weighed close to 40 pounds. From tip of his nose to the tip of his tail, he measured over six feet, according to Howard.

Mrs. Roxie Tilman Dies In La Habra

LA HABRA, Dec. 14.—Mrs. Roxie Tilman, 65, passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. L. Graham, corner of Whittier boulevard and Fullerton road, yesterday morning. The body was taken to the White undertaking parlors in Whittier. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

The deceased came to La Habra a year ago with her daughter, with whom she has made her home for a number of years. Other survivors are a son, Walker Tilman, of Redondo Beach, and a sister, Mrs. John Humphrey.

CHARGED WITH KNIFING GIRL DURING FIGHT

Because he was under the impression that his "sweetie," Velma Thibodeaux, 23, had been untrue to him, William Harris, 43, 1139 1-2 East Tenth street, Los Angeles, is alleged to have assaulted her with a knife, late last night, inflicting severe knife wounds on her face and arms. Both are negroes.

The cutting "scrape" is asserted by officers to have taken place in a house in the 1700 block on West Fourth street.

Officers Perry and Wolford arrested Harris soon afterward and are holding him in the county jail on a charge of assault. He probably will be given a hearing before Justice Morrison today.

Harris told officers, they said, that the woman had been untrue to him. He came here from Los Angeles yesterday.

Short Dress Old Story In Europe

BERNE, Switzerland, Dec. 14.—Short frocks for women may disturb some conservative folk in many countries, but they are an old story for Switzerland. A seeker for historical facts delving into the life of the 16th century has discovered that a few years before the reformation movement and under the reign of Charles III of Savoy, women wore skirts that stopped at the knee. It appears that when Charles III, having wedded the beautiful Beatrice of Portugal, made a triumphal entry into the city of Geneva, the Genevese organized a reception and 300 women paraded, wearing skirts which showed the knee.

URGES PEOPLE TO RID STATE OF MISTLETOE

By CLEM WHITAKER
Staff Correspondent, Santa Ana Register

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 14.—The way of a man with a maid, no matter what the poets say, is a changing way.

Mistletoe, the love shrub of yesterday, is a thing passe today.

In this era of six-cylinder osculation, the green boughs have lost their appeal.

It's a fact, sad though it may be, according to State Forester M. B. Pratt. And the state forester knows his Phoradendron flavescens as Greek lovers called the kissing shrub.

In the days of old, when the chariest maid was open to reason at Christmas-time, tons of mistletoe were gathered in California at the holiday season. And with each twig plucked from the tree, osculatory vibrations soared to the kissing point.

But youth no longer goes out en masse to strip the trees of mistletoe, according to Pratt and both man and state are losing by the change.

The state loses thousands of mighty trees, because mistletoe, in the Greek, means "tree thief," and lives up to its name. It is a parasitic growth that saps the vigor of trees, though it lends courage to faltering lovers.

And man loses, says the state forester, because there's a warmth and quality to a kiss beneath the mistletoe never matched in an automobile "necking" party. The kiss stolen beneath the love bough, he believes, is like the fruit stolen by small boys. It tastes better!

"Oh for a girl, yes a million girls, beneath the mistletoe," sighs Pratt. The forester, however, is a man of family and his remark should be construed impersonal. He's thinking of the saving to the state—the mighty oaks bowed down under a load of mistletoe, while man loses half the elixir of life.

At any rate, State Forester Pratt is appealing to California to return to the good old days of mistletoe and surreptitious kissing at the Yuletide season.

There's full remission of sins for kissing beneath the mistletoe, so far as the state government is concerned, says Pratt, and probably the girl will feel the same about it when she realizes the full importance of the rite in saving great trees, et cetera.

However you view the matter, or regardless of your intent, it's a citizen's duty to the state to return mistletoe at Christmas-time, concludes Pratt's appeal to the lovers.

ORANGE COUNTY FAIR BOARD TO ASK FOR DATES

Following a meeting of the board of directors last night, J. R. Hunt will leave tomorrow for San Francisco authorized to ask the Western Fairs association to give the Orange County Community Fair association two tentative dates for the 1928 fair opening Saturday, September 1 and closing on September 6, or opening on Monday, September 5 (Labor Day) and closing on Saturday, September 8. Hunt may be accompanied by Directors John Ragan and S. W. Stanley.

Owing to the absence of three directors—Ted Craig, Ralph McFadden and Mrs. J. V. Kelsey—the directors were unable last night to decide on a definite date for the 1928 opening, and gave the secretary-manager authority to ask for the tentative dates mentioned.

The big issue involved in settlement of the date question is whether or not the fair will be kept open on Sunday—for Sunday opening is what is meant in the application for the tentative opening date of September 1.

Hunt asserted today that the board had received many requests for operation of the big display on Sunday. The applicants pointing out that opening on this day would make it possible for thousands of men and women to visit the exposition who do not have the opportunity during the week. The attendance record would be increased very materially, in the opinion of those who asked the management to open the big tents to the public on the rest day.

The question of Sunday operation is one that the directors will have to fight out later. According to Hunt virtually all of the other county fairs in the state maintain open gates on Sunday.

Strong opposition has developed when suggestions have been made in the past that the great display of Orange county resources be kept open on Sunday, and it is anticipated decision on the important point will not be made without agitation by persons who take opposite views as to the advisability of maintaining the exhibit on the holiday.

If present plans of the directors are executed, farm bureau exhibitors will be given added inducements to make displays next year. In place of the $25 transportation allowance which has been given these organizations in the past, $50 will be allowed toward the cost of the exhibit. The money will be paid to the chairman of the exhibit committee and may be passed to the party creating the exhibit or to the Farm Bureau center itself.

H. A. Lake, president, last night announced appointment of directors as heads of the following departments:

George Kellogg, Torba Linda, agriculture; Ted Craig, Brea, junior fair and entertainment; Ralph McFadden, Placentia, ticket takers and guards; John Ragan, Orange, horse and dog shows; S. W. Stanley, Tustin, live stock, poultry, rabbits and pigeons; F. L. Purinton, rodeo and gates; Mrs. J. V. Kelsey, women's department and premium list; H. A. Lake, publicity and accounting; J. R. Hunt, concessions, industrial and automobiles.

Excess acid is the common cause of indigestion. It results in pain and sourness about two hours after eating. The quick corrective is an alkali which neutralizes acid. The best corrective is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention. One spoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia neutralizes instantly many times its volume in acid. It is harmless and tasteless and its action is quick. You will never rely on crude methods, never con-

COSTA MESA WILL HAVE NEW PAVING

Plans for paving Harper street, Costa Mesa, for a distance of three quarters of a mile from its intersection with Newport road, are being laid today by Nat Neff, county highway superintendent.

The board of supervisors authorized him to proceed with the project at its session yesterday.

The installation of sidewalks and curbs also is to be a part of the program. Plans for laying sidewalks and curbs on several streets in the Los Alamitos district also were authorized.

A petition for a lighting district at Westminster was referred to the county surveyor W. K. Hilyard.

SON OF SLAIN MAN IS TAKEN FROM HOSPITAL

Alvino Pineda, 26, son of the murdered Juan Pineda, whose body was found in an irrigation ditch at Smelter back to the county jail from the county hospital, where he was taken following his arrest several days ago.

Officers who arrested him, reported him violently insane. Several days in the hospital have made a marked change in his mental condition and he was allowed removed today, it was said.

F. W. Howard, chief criminal deputy sheriff, who is working on the murder case, said today that he hoped to prove that the son knew more about the murder than he has confessed and that clues, now being run down, may show that Pineda could tell authorities much regarding the circumstances of the brutal murder.

ANNEXATION IS DISCUSSED AT MEETING HERE

The feasibility of the proposed annexation project between Santa Ana and Costa Mesa was discussed at length last night at a meeting of citizens of both communities at the Chamber of Commerce, with the result that the possible advantages of such a move were considered from every angle.

George Raymer, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, outlined the expressions of opinion which have come to him from business men all over the county and declared that the sentiment seems to favor the development of Newport harbor as a foundation for progress in this section.

It was pointed out that the possible combination of Costa Mesa and Santa Ana would offer one means of co-operation in pushing the harbor project. A large number of citizens in each city is believed to feel that harbor expansion is of vital concern to both towns.

UNCLAD NYMPH IS SOUGHT IN HILLS

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 14.—An unclad nymph, who left material evidence in the form of clothes and a set of nature study books in an oak tree, was being sought today in the hills near San Dimas by deputy sheriffs.

Although peace officers believe that the owner of the clothing is a "back to nature" advocate and that she is roaming the hills in the nude, the possibility of foul play is also being considered.

The nature of the books found with the clothing led to the opinion that their owner is carrying out the theory advocated in them. One of the books is titled "Nature Study and Life" and is inscribed on the inside cover with the name, "Jessie Wiggs, Plainfield, Nebraska, Nov. 8, 1902."

"The Divine Plan of the Ages" is the title of another and a third is "Advanced Geography."

VETERANS MAY ORGANIZE FOR RELIEF WORK

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 14.—The American Legion had under consideration today a plan for mobilization of its members in times of national emergencies such as floods, earthquakes and tornadoes.

The plan, presented in an address by E. E. Spafford, national commander, before the conference of state commanders and adjutants, would prepare the legion for rescue work and protection of life and property during disasters.

Spafford named vice commanders to head the work in five national districts and declared arrangements would be expedited for quick and efficient mobilization. Data will be obtained by these men regarding facilities for transportation, communication, supplies, medical aid and civil authorities who could hold in the work, the commander said.

The five district vice commanders announced are Paul R. Younts, of Charlotte, N. C., Atlantic coast district; J. M. Henry, of Winona, Minn., north central district, including Indiana; Ralph T. O'Neil, of Topeka, Kans., central district; Dan Spurlock, of Shreveport, La., south central district; and James T. Taffis, Colville, Wn., Pacific coast district.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Describing the market the Wall Street Journal says: Stocks were unsettled today by a break in recently exploited specialties. Excessive public speculation in the airplane issues weakened the technical positions causing sharp losses in Wright and Curtiss.

The main body of stocks, however, gave a very good account of itself. Steel common furnished strong support against bearish onslaughts. Steel climbed to new high ground on the current movement.

There was revival of reports the gold movement might necessitate a rise in the redoubt rate next year. An encouraging aspect of the day's transactions was the decline in volume.

Just a Year in Santa Ana

Just about a year ago I selected Santa Ana as my future home—to bring me happiness, fame and fortune. It has rained—much water has passed under our bridges—but now the sun is shining. I am happy and content—business is good. As to fame, well I don't know if I have made Seventeenth and Main famous or it has made me so—but I'm here. I'm anxious to have the world know that I sell tires, know that I sell the best ones that money can buy—sell them on a plan that offers you the best for the least.

Wait a minute—I didn't mean to try and sell you anything in this little letter, but just wanted to remind you that I've been here a year, am still here and expect to remain until they take the wheels off the new Fords and put wings on them.

SPORTSMATTER

BY FRANK GETTY
UNITED PRESS SPORTS EDITOR

Fascismo, it seems, has designs on athletic glory. Italy is to be represented at Amsterdam by "the full athlete strength of the land." Such is the decree of Mussolini, and if you know your garlic in Italy you do as the Duce decrees.

At a recent meeting at Bologna, the Fascist Olympic Training committee outlined a program for countrywide meets whereby Italy's athletic strength might be recruited.

Overseas, as the Fascist government calls them, were appointed to see that no athlete of promise escapes.

One can well imagine the fervor with which Italian athletes will be inspired to prepare for participation in the Olympic games.

As far as their performances in the track and field events are concerned, Italians never have figured prominently as a team.

There was Ugo Frigerio, of course, and at a somewhat earlier period, Dorando Pietri. They were outstanding athletes and won world fame at their respective Olympiads.

Of the 14 records broken at Antwerp in 1920, Frigerio contributed a new mark for the 3,000 metres walk, while Dorando's great run against Hayes in the marathon at London in 1908 is famed in song and fable.

Incidentally, it is interesting to note that Dorando's name—his last name, that is—was not Dorando at all, but Pietri.

It is the Italian custom to furnish enquirers with the last name first. When the marathon race of 1908 came to its dramatic conclusion with the disqualification of the winner, the name of Dorando, instead of Pietri was caught up on the cables and flashed around the world, and its owner never was able to correct the mistake.

Italian runners did not fare very well at the 1924 Olympiad, but Frigerio won the 10,000 metres walk. In the field events, a similar lack of success was apparent. Lenzi and Tugnoli the Italian shot-putters, could do around 40 feet, but it took a heave of 48 feet 7 7/8 inches by Porhola, the giant Finn, to win the event.

The sprinters, d'Agostino and Pasterino, can do no better than 11.4 and 22.6 for the 100 and 200 metres respectively. The hurdlers, Contolli and Facelli are slow when compared with American, German or Scandinavian performers.

Other good Italian runners, but not good enough, are Cominotto, the half-miler, and Davoli, the distance star. Maccarino, who finished fourth in the 10,000 metres run at Antwerp, is past his prime.

Still and all, the Fascist government has shown extraordinary ability at making the Italians do things, and it may be that the next Olympiad will witness a remarkable improvement in the nation's performance as an athletic team.

But aside from Ugo Frigerio, I do not find the name of a single Italian champion in the list of Olympic winners from 1896 right down to the present day.

POLY TEAM IS OUTPOINTED IN PRACTICE TEST

After playing the crack Livesey basketball team to a score of 22 to 20 in four quarters of play, the Santa Ana high school varsity, in two additional periods, eased up enough to permit the challengers to win by a score of 40 to 32 in a game played in Andrews gymnasium last night.

Melvin Beatty and Orville Schuchardt, forwards for the Santa Ana team, divided scoring honors in the practice set-to.

Cosch Bill Foote's charges are coming along fast and prospects for a successful season appear brighter than they did a week ago.

The lineup:
High School: Livesey Beatty (6), F. (11) Labrucherie Schuchardt (8), F. (8) Shivers Rust (5), C. (2) Brunskill Sullivan (4), G. (1) Dixon Yonel (2), G. (1) Dixon

Coe players of the Santa Ana junior college triumphed over the Huntington Beach high school team, 20 to 11, won a decisive 34 to 3 victory over a quintette of the Orange high school and in a third match came off in a tie, 19 to 19, with a second Orange team, in a series of games played yesterday.

Captain Blanchard Beatty's five scored the most heavily of the three Don aggregations that were sent into action.

The second game with Orange proved a closer match ending in the tie. George Tobias captain of the squad in the game played on the home court, Coach Scott used his reserves and succeeded in outpointing the visiting Huntington Beach players.

Tonight the Dons will play a return match against the Livesey team beginning at 7:30 in Andrews gymnasium. The Livesey team, captained by Frank Labrucherie, star forward of the Santa Ana junior college team last year, won the only victory that has marred the record of the college team this season. Coach Scott will probably use his strongest combination to even the count.

No Chance for S. A.-Fullerton Game

POLY DISBANDS FOR SEASON AS BIG GAME OFF

Basketball, Spring Sports Now Take Attention of 'Tex' Oliver's Gridmen

There will be no post-season meeting between Santa Ana high school and Fullerton high school and the 1927 season of the Poly squad has been completed. This announcement emanated today from a semi-official, but authoritative, source.

The Santa Ana players have disbanded, turned in their uniforms and there isn't even an outside chance for a Christmas day scuffle with the "Big Red Team."

This was said to be certain for two more than god reasons:

(1) Santa Ana doesn't care to play Fullerton this late in the season.

(2) Fullerton doesn't care to meet Santa Ana this late in the year and particularly so since it still has at least one more hard game ahead of it.

That appears to definitely settle the matter because there can hardly be a game if neither team shows up for it.

Coach "Tex" Oliver's gridmen have already turned their attention to other matters, principally basketball, although baseball, track and other spring activities will get their quota of the "beep, strong fellers" after the Christmas holidays.

So Santa Ana fans can kiss that much-discussed post-season classic goodbye—until next season. In 1928, it appears certain, Fullerton will be lined up in the Coast Preparatory league and will face Poly in a regularly scheduled league set-to.

Fullerton officials announced today that the Class B finals between Long Beach and Fullerton would be played at Wrigley field Saturday as well as the Southern California titular match between the "Reds" and Santa Maria. The "Bees" will hook up in a preliminary joust, beginning at 12:15 o'clock. The first team tussle will start at 2:15 o'clock.

SANTA ANA WEIGHT TEAMS VICTORIOUS

Santa Ana's two weight teams of the high school scored a double victory over Anaheim Class teams in games that were played yesterday afternoon at Anaheim. The Class B quintette took a 15 to 10 win from their opponents and the midweight cage five upset the Anaheim "Little Men" by a score of 28 to 12.

Over America's most costly golf course, many famous players will compete in the annual $10,000 open championship at Los Angeles early in January. The Wilshire Country club, where the meet will be held, is dedicated to golf for all time by its wealthy members. It lies in the center of Los Angeles' fashionable Wilshire residential district, and the land covered by its 18-hole course is valued at more than $5,000,000. That's an average of nearly $300,000 a hole! Practically every important golfer in this country, both pro and amateur, is expected to enter the meet. ACQUISITION OF BLUE MEANS DEFINITELY THAT SISLER IS TO BE TRADED BY ST. LOUIS

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Phil Ball, president of the St. Louis Browns, today announced the sale of George Sisler, first baseman of the Browns, to the Washington Senators.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—The annual meetings of the two major baseball leagues here are being overshadowed in importance by the lobby trades and lobby chatter of impending trades. Today the matter of George Sisler remained the paramount issue as fans, manager and baseball players gathered.

It seems clear that Sisler will not play next year with St. Louis, where once he was manager of the Browns and once was credited with being the best player in the league. The Browns, through a trade with Detroit, got another first baseman yesterday in Lou Blue.

In that trade Phil Ball relinquished Elam F. Gilder and Harry Rice in exchange for Heinie Wannen and Blue.

This puts Sisler in the strange position of having a man to succeed him without having any idea where he is going. Rumor had it that Clark Griffith and "Bucky" Harris, who control affairs at Washington, were casting covetous eyes toward Sisler.

Rumors also were current that Sisler will figure in a three-cornered trade between St. Louis, Detroit and Chicago; that he will wind up eventually at Chicago, and that Willie Kamm, the Sox third baseman, will be at the hot corner for the Tigers in 1928.

Incidentally, Bill McKee, the new Cardinal manager, let it be known he wasn't throwing away Lester Bell and Flint Rhem, two reported ready for the auction block this winter.

Joe McCarthy, the Chicago Cub boss, said all talk about his getting Cuyler for trading material was "poppycock." He said the only thing he needed was a seasoned third baseman and he hadn't been able to find any around. Incidentally, he spiked rumors of a trade between the Giants and the Cubs—involving Cuyler and Lindstrom—by saying he didn't want Lindstrom.

CHARLIE LONG WINS FROM BERT COLIMA

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 14.—Charlie Long, negro middleweight, body punched his way to a 10-round victory over Bert Colima, Whittier Mexican, here last night. Colima displayed numerous instances of poor judgment during the battle, which was an uninteresting affair throughout from the spectator's point of view.

The Mexican would outpunch Long at long range and then slip into a clinch instead of sidestepping. This style of in-fighting was to Long's advantage and he would score heavily before the tangle was broken—generally through sheer muscle power on the part of the referee.

Walker Is Sued By Film Concern

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Mickey Walker, of Elizabeth, N. J., middleweight boxer champion, was sued today for $25,000 for alleged breach of contract, by the Stadium Pictures, Inc., the motion picture company charging Walker broke a contract to act in 12 two-reel films.

BILLY EVANS SAYS

RICKEY WAS ACTIVE
The recent meeting of the minor leagues at Dallas presented a rather unusual situation, in that the man who did the most trading and selling was seldom if ever mingling with the crowd that thronged the lobby of the hotel where the baseball session was held.

I have reference to Branch Rickey of the St. Louis Cardinals. While the minor and major leagues spilled a lot of loose chatter in every nook and corner of the all too small lobby, Rickey sat in an easy chair in the reception room of his suite, doing a big business in the marketing of ball players.

Aside from safeguarding the minors by framing regulations designed to protect their interests, one of the other features of the meeting was the attempt to make exchanges of players or deal for them in cold cash.

It was my experience as well as that of most of the others with whom I talked, that the only thing that was really traded was conversation, a rather cheap commodity.

DIRECTS FIVE CLUBS

In the spacious suite of the effervescent Branch Rickey, however, things were very much different. Rickey was busy entertaining the wants of the various league club owners and in a great many instances sending them away satisfied.

It might be well to explain right here, that Branch Rickey, aside from looking after the affairs of the St. Louis Cardinals, also directs the business policy of five other clubs, all minor league franchises, which are owned by the St. Louis Nationals.

CHAMPION SAYS CRITICISM OF TILT UNSPORTY

Chicago Match Decided On Its Merits Gene Asserts In Speech at Luncheon

BY CLARK KELSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—Gene Tunney, making his first appearance in Chicago since he battered Jack Dempsey at Soldier's field September 22, turned his attention again to his veteran rival last night and assailed as "unsportsmanlike" criticism of the famous 14-second count in that fight.

Tunney did not mention Dempsey by name, but he left no question as to the object of his attack, which came at a dinner devoted to raising a Christmas fund for needy Chicagoans.

The champion and Billy Gibson, his manager, were to leave today for Grand Rapids, Mich., to discuss boys' welfare work with Governor Green.

"Not in refutation or response or retort to anything that has been said elsewhere, but in my own behalf, I wish to vindicate the ring and higher officials of the contest at Soldier's field," he said. "Charges reflecting on the honesty of those officials are ridiculous and a grave reflection on the high caliber of the men who sponsored the event."

"If ever a contest was fought on its merits, it was that of September 22. At no time was there the slightest deviation from the rules."

"The unfortunate conduct of certain individuals cannot but go down as no use for sports."

"I have no use for poor sports. Man's greatest virtue, in my opinion is good sportsmanship. And I admired it most in a loser."

Tunney brought several hundred Chicago merchants to their feet cheering when, at a luncheon, he declared:

"I have come here in the interests of a great cause. It was a happy trip and I only wish I could do more for the people who treated me so well when I met Jack Dempsey here last September."

Billy Gibson, Tunney's manager, reiterated his statements that Tunney would fight twice in 1928, probably once in Chicago and once in New York.

HOOPSTERS OF CONFERENCE TO BEGIN ACTION

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 14.—Southern California conference basketball teams plan to obtain some fast action this week end in preparation for the coming conference season, which opens shortly after the holidays.

The coaches are lining up stiff competition before the athletes leave for the seasonal vacations with the view of determining the combinations of sharpshooters from which the best results can be secured.

Occidental's strong five will work out against the fast quintet of the Hollywood Athletic club. The Tigers and Clubmen face each other tonight and again Saturday night. The first game will be played in the club gymnasium and Saturday's encounter will be staged on the college floor.

Neal Archer, Charles Osgood, Ted Ellsworth, Ernie Ketchersid and Kenneth Walker are Oxy veterans who will defend their jobs against aspiring new material in the club workouts.

The H. A. C. strength will include "Chuck" Kearney, Bud George or the Hilliards and George Millard, Indiana university, forwards; Keen Faggans, center; Gene Dorsey, U. S. C.; Jimmy Armstrong, U. C. L. A., and George Harris, Massachusetts Tech, guards.

Pomona college with Captain Harold Merritt, Jack Manildi and Lew Patton, regulars, will play the University of California at Los Angeles here Friday night. The Bruins have a strong team, according to early season indications. U. C. L. A. will play in the Pacific Coast conference this season.

The Bruins, with Bob Baker, Woodroff, "Pee-wee" Williams and Captain Jack Ketchum, veterans, on the job, will play Caltech at Pasadena tonight. Ed Joujon-Roche and Elmer Muff are the Engineers' big threats this year.

PLAY TOGETHER 8 SEASONS

When Charlie Andrews, left, and Louis Behr, forwards on the Wisconsin basketball team, hang up their basketball togs at the end of this season, it will be the culmination of play together for eight seasons. The two were stars for four years on the Rockford, Ill., high school team and are now playing their fourth year together at Wisconsin. Andrews weighs only 135 pounds but, like Behr, who is captain of the team, is one of the best point-makers in the Big Ten conference.

clubs is to develop players for the Cardinals. By owning clubs in various classifications, it is possible for St. Louis to place their recruits in the leagues to which playing ability is best suited. Often it isn't necessary for some of these players to advance to the majors through the regular steps. These exceptions often come to the majors from a Class C league and deliver.

Since the St. Louis Cardinals can only absorb so many of these players annually, Rickey as a rule finds himself with a number of players who are deserving of promotion.

OTHERS MAY DO SAME
After satisfying the needs of his own club first, Rickey places on the market many desirable players, who he feels are not able to be immediately used by the Cardinals.

These players are offered to the highest bidder, unless Rickey feels he is obligated to some club. If such is the case he sets a price that he believes is fair to both teams.

That explains why more business was done in Branch Rickey's suite in a quiet lobby than in the seething lobby of the hotel, where it was a difficult job to find even parking space for one's dogs.

The innovation of the St. Louis club in having a number of clubs in leagues of various classifications, enabling them to place their men where best fitted, has started other clubs in a like direction.

Inside of a year it is almost certain that a majority of the major league clubs will own minor league clubs, to be operated under a plan that will best suit the policies of the different clubs.

While some of the major league clubs do not now look on such a system with favor, it is evident that they will be forced to come to it if desiring to be properly protected.

treated properly when the Tunney-Dempsey fight was held here and I know Gene wants to fight under Mullen's direction next year," he said.

Gibson decried the apparent lack of heavyweight challengers, saying that outside of Jack Sharkey, Jack Delaney and possibly Tom Heeney there were no heavyweights who stand out.

ARMY TO HAVE ANOTHER GOOD TEAM IN 1928

WEST POINT, N. Y., Dec. 14.—Indications point to another powerful football team at the United States Military academy in 1928.

If Coach Biff Jones finds a good pair of ends somewhere in the prospective squad for next year, the Army is likely to continue its successes of the past two years.

The Army has been beaten twice and tied once in the past two seasons. Notre Dame beat the Cadets, 7 to 0, and the Navy tied them, 21 to 21, in 1926. Last season only Yale beat the future Generals, and that by a scant 10 to 6 score.

Big Spud Sprague of Dallas, Tex., who played at Texas university before he entered the academy will captain the Army in 1928. Sprague, a powerful tackle, has been one of the best linemen in the east for two seasons.

The Army will miss Light-horse Harry Wilson, the retiring captain, no doubt, but there are plenty of young, eager backs coming on to take his place. Wilson starred for four years at West Point after three brilliant years at Penn State.

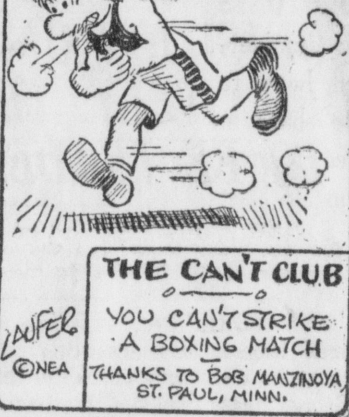

The loss of Born and Harbold, two of the best ends that roved the gridiron last season, will hurt the Army. Two ends of the calibre of Born and Harbold don't happen along very often, and they are going to be hard to replace. Brentnall, first-string substitute last year, also graduates this year.

A backfield with Nave at quarter, Cagle and Hutchinson at half-backs and Murrell at fullback ought to be something close to good. Then there are others such as Piper, Allan, and Draper who looked just a year away in 1927.

From tackle to tackle, the line is well fortified with Sprague, Perry, Hammack, Hall, all regulars back, and only Seeman, a guard, missing from the 1927 unit. Walsh, Elias, Pearson, Brownlee, Lynch, Harris and Gordon will be on hand for reserves.

BEARS RESUME PLAY THURSDAY FOR PENN TIFF

BERKELEY, Dec. 14.—Back in his office today after attending the meeting of the Pacific Coast conference at Portland, "Nibs" Price, coach of the California Bears, today was busy mapping out his campaign against Lou Young's Pennsylvanians, who play here in the Memorial stadium December 31.

"Practice begins Thursday at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and from then on the beehive in the story will have nothing on the stadium when it comes to being busy," Price declared. "California is going to have a job on its hands trying to beat Penn, any anyone who thinks differently is a few months behind the times on their information. The bunch Lou Young is bringing out with him in the team that finished the season like a tornado, not the crippled outfit that got licked 'way back in October."

Price has not definitely stated whether he will scrimmage the first week, simply outlining the first few days work as "all they can take to begin with. Nibs will be assisted by 'Brick' Mitchell, freshman coach, in addition to his usual staff of Clint Evans, assistant varsity coach, "Doc" Boles and Dan McMillan, line coaches, "Brick" Muller, end coach, and Charlie Volz, trainer.

Commenting on the 1928 schedule, Price remarked that it was "tough but there is no doubt that it is going to be interesting." Washington State, which replaces Montana, will have a good team next year, according to reports current in the north. The Cougar freshmen were a good eleven this season and Hollingberry will have a good batch of veterans left over from the team that played this year.

The California football team will have the stadium to themselves until December 21, when the Pennsylvania party arrives. The Quakers' first workout will be at 2 o'clock that afternoon, and will be open to the public. Price and Lou Young will meet that day and decide upon a schedule for joint use of the stadium thereafter. If necessary Hilgrad field, used by the freshmen during the regular season, can be drafted for practice.

It was announced today by the committee in charge.

Mr. Edeson, who has played in the companies of practically every outstanding star of the American theater in the past 25 years, will be master of ceremonies for that part of the program to be provided by the Hollywood film folk, it was announced. Mr. Edeson was last in Santa Ana when the De Mille picture, "The King of Kings," in which he had a prominent part, was previewed at a local theater, and at that time he expressed the wish to become better acquainted with Santa Ana.

Charles South, eminent violinist, will be a featured soloist on the program. Mr. South, who has been ranked with Calmon Lubovicki and Sylvan Noack as a violinist, was secured for the program through the courtesy of Milton Foster.

Bruce Switzer, who is in charge of the program, said that Ivis Stein had agreed to provide paper hats for everyone attending the dinner. Reservations for the meeting can be made with the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce.

Three hours of entertainment is planned, Switzer added.

Pasadena Prepares for Thirty-Ninth Annual Rose Tournament

FLOWER GARDENS throughout Southern California are being carefully watched and nurtured in order that there may be no shortage of blossoms for the Golden State's great annual mid-winter fête, the Tournament of Roses, which is to be held in Pasadena on January 2nd. Only natural flowers may be used on the floats in the rose parade, and countless thousands of them are required. The picture above shows Ouina Lisk and Peggy Moore in their Pasadena gardens.

SOUTHERN SEAS CLUB MEETING HELD AT BEACH

Considerable activity at the Southern Seas club was reported at the regular twice-a-month meeting of the board of directors by President J. P. Greeley Monday. A number of social affairs of importance have been held recently and many gatherings are planned for the Holiday season. Over 95 people enjoyed the Thanksgiving dinner arranged for guests and members and a larger number are expected to enjoy the special Christmas dinner which has been planned.

Among other matters ordered at the last meeting was the securing of estimates of the cost of the new proposed addition of dining-room and kitchen. On the suggestion of Dr. Ferry, president of the Bank of Balboa and a director, some contractors will be asked to make an estimate of the cost of the new building and these figures will be submitted to a big membership meeting to be held in January at which time a full report of the finances and membership of the club will be made by the officers.

Interest coupons of the Gold Notes issued by the club have been paid by the trustee bank, the Bank of Italy in Santa Ana, and in addition several new members were accepted during the past few weeks. The matter of deciding on an aggressive membership campaign will come before the meeting in January and many plans for important changes in the club organization will be submitted. The future of the club rests with the members according to its president, J. P. Greeley, who points out that with a reasonable number the club operations can be carried on at a limited expense. The splendid location of the club on the bay front at Balboa where its situation is said to be among the finest on that splendid body of water should prove attractive to a great number of people and when the regular club facilities can be given at a nominal fee there should be a very hearty response to membership appeals from the people of Orange county who can in this way secure a club unique in all California.

Committee On Lights Named In Garden Grove

GARDEN GROVE, Dec. 14.—The Garden Grove Chamber of Commerce held its regular monthly meeting at the Lantern cafe Monday noon, with C. C. Arrow-smith presiding.

F. E. Anderson reported that many fire hydrants had been installed, stating that the remainder would be ready by next week. The fire committee is investigating the proposition of a building to house the fire engine.

the west of town in place of through town as has been the case in other years.

The question of disposing of the Y.M.C.A. building by turning it over to the American Legion post was discussed. It was the opinion of the majority of members to leave the matter stand as it is.

The following committee, composed of J. M. Woodworth, F. M. Reafsnider and E. R. Schneider, was appointed to investigate the question of ornamental street lighting as the telephone lines and poles have been taken from the business section and placed in the alleys.

LETTER TELLS OF CONDITIONS IN RUMANIA

LAGUNA BEACH, Dec. 14.—A letter has been received by C. Leon de Aryan from his mother, who lives in Czernowitz, Bucovina, which became a part of Rumania as a result of the World war. Enclosed with it is a clipping containing the editorial version about present conditions in Rumania and their causes as seen by one of that country's foremost editorial writers, Victor G. Cristofor. Following is the gist of that article as translated by de Aryan:

"It is true that a little while back there was not sufficient money at the disposal of the public to conduct the necessary business of the country but this is no longer the case. The market is glutted with uninvested money but there is a marked lack of confidence among financiers. The cost of living has not decreased in proportion with the rise of the leu on the exchange market. The price of goods is higher than in Western Europe.

"One cannot place the blame at the door of the government, since the prime minister, Bratianu, is one of the most energetic and economic executives possible. Vintila Bratianu has succeeded to not only stabilize the leu but is the cause of its continued rise in value.

"The position of the United States of America is also unfavorable to this country. That country is following its pre-war policy of making no direct investments in Rumania, but only through Berlin banks. In that manner we cannot take advantage of its unlimited capital without enriching Germany first, which country benefits most by American capital to compete successfully with our own manufactures. For this reason no one dare make direct investments here, even though money is plentiful in our banks.

"This necessitates immense economies on the part of the public that will compel a change in the general international policy toward this country. What we need is endurance and faith."

Santa Anans to Join Round the World Cruise

These are busy days indeed at Greenwood Gables, the B. H. Sharpless country home on Newport road, for Mr. and Mrs. Sharpless are completing their plans for a round-the-world cruise upon which they will embark Thursday, December 23. They will sail on the Red Star liner, Belgeland, which will touch at Los Angeles harbor, after its voyage through the Canal following a departure today from New York City.

The Belgeland is starting on its fourth winter cruise of the world, and Los Angeles is one of the ports at which the passengers will be taken on interesting tours. Mr. and Mrs. Sharpless plan to join the party for this part of the journey as well, as they feel that it will be an interesting experience to view their own homeland through the eyes of those to whom California is less familiar.

After a stop in San Francisco, the steamer will sail directly for Hawaii and there the Santa Anans will revisit the scenes so familiar to them through nine years' residence in the Islands. China, Japan and the interesting lands of the Orient will be visited and the steamer will make protracted stays in each land in order to allow the tourists time to see the interesting places.

Mr. Sharpless, whose love for hunting is well known to all his friends, is anticipating a 19-day tiger hunt in India, as he will leave the vessel at Calcutta, and not rejoin the party again until the Belgeland reaches Bombay.

After cruising the Mediterranean with their fellow voyagers, Mr. and Mrs. Sharpless will leave the Belgeland and go up through Italy and other European countries, stopping in Paris for a visit with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jean Lillienfeld. Mrs. Lillienfeld will be remembered by a host of friends, as Miss Ada May Sharpless. It will be her father's first visit with her since her romantic marriage after she went to Paris to study art, but Mrs. Sharpless has her daughter, Miss Claire Sharpless, now Mrs. Cecil Marks, spent several months with her in Paris a year or more ago.

HOSTESS DUO PLANS PARTY AT BALBOA PALISADES CLUB

Adding to the charm of a party at the Christmas season, at which Mrs. Theo A. Winbiger and Mrs. Harry E. Zaiser entertained yesterday, was the fact that the hostesses staged their entertaining at the Palisades club, Balboa, giving their guests the zest of novelty in the surroundings of the clubhouse, and in the pleasant drive to the beach, as a preliminary to the delicious luncheon and the afternoon of bridge.

Mrs. Zaiser and Mrs. Winbiger greeted their guests in the big reception room, where a cheery fire blazing on the hearth, was in glowing contrast to the stretch of tumbling sea visible from the wide windows. Poinsettias, Christmas wreaths and a tinsel-wound tree completed the decorative effect, while some 25 tables arranged in the adjoining dining room, gleamed with tall red candles rising from potted holders, and the scarlet nut-cups to harmonize.

Bridge Awards

Luncheon gave way later to bridge, for which Mrs. Ernest Winbiger, Mrs. Frances Weinrich and Mrs. George Gunther distributed attractive tallies bearing quaint English Christmas scenes. The young matrons aided later in taking the scores and other details of entertaining, while Mrs. J. E. Liebig also aided the hostesses during the afternoon.

In the bridge contest, high score was made by Mrs. W. N. Prince, whose reward was a beautiful bowl in amethyst frosted glass. Mrs. Leo Borchard took second prize of etched bud vases, while third prize of a quaint pottery candlestick and wax candle, was secured by Mrs. John P. Baumgartner.

While the gifts were being admired, a surprise feature was introduced in the presentation of a candle and holly decorated birthday cake to Mrs. John Estes, with whose birthday date the party coincided. With the presentation was an appropriate verse read by Mrs. Emmett Elliott.

Musical Features

Nor was the hospitality and gift giving the only delightful thing about the day, for the hostesses had planned a brief musical program for the interval while scores were being tallied. With Miss Ruth Armstrong as accompanist, two of the city's favorite soloists sang, Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh and Mrs. Chauncey Moore (Marjorie Warner Moore). The latter sang first, using Cyril Scott's "Blackbird Song" followed by "Pierrot" by Lily Watts. Her voice is as lyrical and lovely as a clear spring day, and her admirers are happy to have the talented young singer here again, although her stay is only temporary, as she will return to the Orient in time, where Lieutenant Moore is stationed.

Mrs. Slabaugh's rich, velvety contralto was heard in Logan's "Pale Moon" and as an encore she sang "It is Better to Smile than Be Sad" by Lucrezia Borgia, both songs well suited to the beautiful qualities of her voice.

These close friends who contributed so much to the pleasure of the afternoon, were each presented with a pretty gift by their hostesses, until the whole atmosphere of the party reflected the spirit of Christmas.

While over 100 friends were entertained yesterday afternoon, one of the hostesses, Mrs. Winbiger, will follow it with a second function for which equally hospitable plans are being made, and which will be staged early in the new year.

Parent-Teachers

Franklin Program

Tomorrow afternoon and evening will be set aside at Franklin school for an observance of Christmas in which school children will join by giving a program, and the mothers and teachers will conduct a bazaar.

"The Christmas Dream" will be the play presented by the children. The program will open with orchestra numbers, followed by a piano solo by Catherine Eklund; "Why the Chimes Ring" by Ruth Jenkins, and a group of carols.

Taking part in the first scene of "The Christmas Dream" will be Velma Stroud, Marjorie Jean Pederson, Beulah Jean Osborne and members of a chorus. "Last Night Before I Went to Bed," Irene Johnson will give "Go to Sleep Teddy," followed by a chorus, "The Sandman's Song." First grade girls will be "Sleepy Heads" with Betty Jo Henderson and Gerome Duffy singing "Noel." Catherine Eklund will be "Fairies Queen" and Frances Bernstein "Rose-bud."

After carols by the upper grade chorus, the second scene, "The Dream" will open with the "Living Christmas Tree" by the upper grade girls and a chorus, "Santa Claus," with Jimmie Crowther as Santa Claus. First grade boys will give "Choo Choo Train" and the first grade girls will give "Dollies." "Sticks of Candy" will be second grade boys, and "I've Looked for Fairies" will be sung by them and the third graders.

Frances Bernstein will give "Christmas Roses," and Betty Jo Henderson and the chorus will sing "Call of the Fairies." First, second and third grade girls will give "Fairies and Roses" and the scene will close with a "Lullaby" by the primary chorus. The third scene will be "The Awakening" and the "First Noel" will be sung by the chorus, the program closing with "Good Night" by Velma Stroud.

All parents and friends of the school are urged to be present, enjoy the program, and patronize the bazaar and cooked food booth. The afternoon will be for the pupils at 3 o'clock, the program to be repeated in the evening at 7:30.

Young Couple Wedded At Pretty Ceremony In Santa Ana Home

On Saturday evening, December 10, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Cruzen, 1119 South Flower street, took place the marriage of their only daughter, Grace Marian, to Stewart Francis Godden, the solemn rites being performed by the bride's cousin, the Rev. James G. Hurst of Huntington Beach.

As the familiar strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March sounded from the piano at which the bride's mother, Mrs. Cruzen was seated, the wedding party entered the room, to form before an improvised altar of ferns, orange blossoms and holly. Suspended above were white wedding bells, from which a shower of rice descended upon the happy couple after their wedding vows were spoken, when the young husband turned to salute his wife.

Members of the wedding party were in formal evening attire. The bride was very charming in a simply fashioned gown of ecru point lace over shell pink satin. Her only ornament was a rope of pearls and she carried Russell roses and malden-hair fern.

As matron of honor, Mrs. Vernon Cruzen was gowned in pale green silk with ecru lace, a charming contrast to the bride's costume. Pink sweet peas formed her graceful bouquet. Gordon Godden assisted his brother as best man.

After the impressive service, and the period of congratulations which followed, Mr. Godden's mother, soloist in the Long Beach Congregational church, sang a group of beautiful nuptial songs. Guests were then served delicious two-course refreshments at small tables arranged with dainty linens, Christmas candles and holly favors.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Godden will return from their wedding trip to a pleasant apartment in Long Beach, where they will welcome their many friends after the first of the year. Mr. Godden is a commercial artist of Long Beach, and an officer in the coast guards, and is extremely popular in club and social circles of the beach city.

His bride has resided in Long Beach the past three years, and has made many warm friends there who will join with those of Santa Ana, in good wishes for her future happiness.

Guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Godden of San Pedro, Mr. and Mrs. John Chuseter, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Holz and Mrs. Moore of Long Beach, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Eustis and family, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mead of Tustin, Mr. Ralph Voorhes, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Cruzen, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Cruzen, and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Cruzen of this city.

Quill Pen Club

Because of the illness of her son, Master Ruggles Reuter, Mrs. Herman Reuter could not entertain the Quill Pen club last night, and instead the members gathered at the home of their president, Mrs. Harry M. Smith, 2405 Valencia street, where the entertaining program was presented.

This differed from the usual plan of two original stories and a helpful article in that each member had been asked to respond to roll call with a "short short story" on a Christmas theme. The result was extremely interesting, members displaying marked versatility in plot and construction. As each story was read, it was followed by the constructive criticism which the club has adopted, bringing out many points that were helpful to everyone present.

Three guests shared the pleasure of the evening and the hospitality of the delightful Smith home, with its many flowers and festoons of scarlet berried pepper branches. These guests were Mrs. Frank Lansdown, a member of a similar organization, the Pegasus club, Miss Eleanor Adams and Miss Frances Graves, of Buffalo, a winter visitor in the city. Two new members were welcomed, Mrs. George Strachan and Mrs. Mason Yould.

One member, Mrs. R. A. Cushman, was heartily congratulated by everyone present, upon the recent sale of a story, which yielded her a Christmas check of gratifying proportions.

As a concluding feature of the evening, Mrs. Smith served hot doughnuts and cider, after which her guests, especially those recently from the chilly east, particularly enjoyed her patio with its playing fountain and tall banana tree, now in blossom.

FAIR CHINESE MAID IS CULINARY QUEEN

Oh, East is East

And the West, it seems, likes
The East's food best!

By NEA Service.

NEW YORK, Dec. 13—Against past mistresses of the kitchen arts from many sections of America, a tiny almond-skinned woman from the faraway land of the mandarins cooked her way into culinary honors at the Exposition of Women's Arts and Industries here.

She is Nellie Wong, of Pekin; her prize dish, a willow ware plate of shrimp sticks the rich golden brown color of the sails of junks which ply the rivers of her native China.

A Rendezvous

Before the latest revolution in China, if you sought men and women from the Pekin legations, you could best have looked for them at tiffin time in Miss Wong's little tea room close by the great wall, the first eating place of its kind there ever run by a woman.

She specialized in Chinese dainties—Lichee nut concoctions, birds' nests salads, eagle's eggs, bamboo shoots and other dishes of tradition dating back a thousand years or so.

"How did I switch to a tea room? Well, I started selling ice-cream sodas and regular American ice cream in Pekin and they made such a big hit I added one thing after another until I decided I could swing a whole tea room," she says in precise English.

"When I opened the tea room I found that foreigners delighted in native dishes even more than their home favorites. So gradually I added one recipe after another that we had had in our family and our Chinese cook helped me.

Old-Fashioned

"But I enjoy the actual process of cooking. I guess in spite of all my new ideas, I'm old-fashioned in that respect. There's no satisfaction on earth like serving a very nice meal to people who appreciate it."

Her celebrated and delicious shrimp sticks are made by this recipe:

"Merry Hearts" Share Friendly Evening With Husbands

Members of the little club of "Merry Hearts" who meet at intervals for bridge, certainly justified their names last night, when they, together with their husbands, were entertained at a delightful dinner party given by Mrs. Lela Baird at the Rose Arbor tea room.

Mrs. Baird had planned for one long table for her guests, and arranged it in keeping with the holiday season. A sparkling Christmas tree, tall red candles, artistic nut cups and Christmas place cards, all emphasized the cheery motif.

After the appetizing dinner, the guests were asked to take their places at card tables for a bridge contest. In this, Mrs. George Faul and Mr. Robert Anderson were each presented with desirable gifts for their high scores, while Mrs. George Parker and John Cannon, pursued by bad luck in scoring, received attractive consolation gifts.

It is the custom of the Merry Hearts to exchange small Christmas gifts, so at last night's party, they enlarged their circle to include their husbands, and a hilarious hour was spent in seeing "what Santa Claus brought."

Enjoying the hospitality of Mrs. Baird, were Mr. and Mrs. George Faul Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Charles Givens, Mr. and Mrs. John Cannon, Mr. and Mrs. George Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Knight, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Yost, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Cain and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson.

Household Hints

TIME SAVER

If you roll pie crust or biscuit dough on a big sheet of waxed paper it is less likely to stick and you don't have to wash the board.

RESTING EYES

After a hard day, when very fatigued, bathe your eyes with hot water, then cold and lie down with a damp cloth over them for a few minutes.

COLD FEET

If your feet get chilled easily, bathe daily in cold water to which has been added a cup of solution of rock salt dissolved in boiling water.

SHINY SILVER

If you keep your good silver put away in dark blue cotton flannel it will keep it shiny. Light flannel seems to permit tarnishing.

The WOMAN'S DAY by AILENE SUMNER

One of the most important items in the day's news to women is a report of the recovery of the Minnesota woman who, having given birth to twin babies, just after an automobile accident, lay in a state of coma for over a month. Prate as you will about "the new woman's new interests," the fact is that for every woman who counts a new equal rights law real news, there are a thousand women who find anything to do with the welfare of mother or child the only news worth anything, for that's where their interest and whole life is.

THE TIGER'S MATHILDE
Mathilde, the market woman who sells scallions and fillet de sole to none less than Georges Clemenceau, "Tiger" of France, wears one of the old-fashioned lace bonnets just to keep the former premier of France a satisfied customer. At least so the famous old man suspects, for he has not been at all backward in expressing his love for "the dainty feminine lacy head dresses women used to wear instead of these stuff man-like hats they crush into their pockets today." Clemenceau's sighs for "the good old days" seem rather inconsistent in a man who proved so well how free he was from tradition and how well he did his own thinking. On the woman question, the ablest and the weakest all seem strangely alike.

LADY GODIVA
The Lady Godiva battle in Chicago is one of the most amusing things which has occurred in our great and glorious democracy for some time. They were planning the annual Arts Ball and decided to have a beautiful girl with a wealth of golden hair pose upon a beautiful papier mache white horse as the lovely Godiva of story who rode naked but for her mantle of hair through her town at midday in order to get her husband to help her people; he, having said that not a thing would he do till he rode through the town at midday naked upon a horse—that being his clever way of saying "never." But ride she did and the townfolk all stayed inside. Somehow the Godiva story did not go over with all the Arts tub. The anti-Godiva banded together, their platform being that naked lady was simply that and nothing more whether she sat on a motionless horse or capered about. In view of the fact that members of the Arts club spend their life-time in fashioning nude gures out of marble and bronzes and oils this argument sounded very insane. Lady Godiva will sit or horse.

"ONLY A THOUSAND"
Wonder how many women will get for Christmas these $1000 cigarette lighters now offered by our best jewelers? The lighters are symphonies of cloisonne, solid gold, and real jewels. One jeweler said that he couldn't sell his $50 lighters because they were too cheap, so now he'd try some better ones. Sounds as if we were poverty-stricken nation, doesn't it? The unemployed are storming our cities' council chambers, so isn't it too bad that the state is living between those who can have $1000 cigarette lighters and those who can't even have a crust of bread can't be leveled down little?

The Tines didn't hesitate, but walked right through the monstrous gate. Old Santa shouted, "Here we are, in famous Santa Land. You soon will see all kinds of toys which we make up for girls and boys. Our task this year will be real fun, since you're to lend a hand."

The tines smiled and looked around. Ah, what a pretty place they'd found! In all directions they could see small toyshops towering high. They followed Santa down the street, and then they heard some music sweet. It came out of the music shop, as they were passing by.

"What is that place?" went Carpy cried. "I'd surely like to go inside. It sounds like little horns and things. I'd like to blow one, too. Why, once I played right in a band, and say, the way I played was grand. I made some pretty music, though it's rather hard to do."

This statement made old Santa smile. Said he, "We'll go there after 'while. It's where we make a lot of drums, and horns and whistles, too. I'll let you play a slide trombone, which makes a deep and funny tone. But, first of all, we have a lot of other things to do."

So, on they went, to shortly stop before a place called, "Dressing Shop." "Here's where we start," old Santa said. "We'll put on working clothes." Inside, the Tines looked around and heaps and heaps of nice clothes found. They hung on little hangers; there were rows and rows and rows.

"We make these things for dolls to wear," said Santa, "but they will not care if each of you pick something out that's hanging 'round the walls. Take something to protect your clothes, or they'll get dirty, goodness knows." So, every little Tynite put on some overalls.

Beauty Chats

BY EDNA KENT FORBES

If you are well or ill, strong or anemic, try these suggestions for improving your looks. They won't, in any event, have the smallest effect on any other treatment you may be taking.

First, drink one or two (preferably two) glasses of hot water as soon as you wake up. The English have a convenient habit of concealing a gas ring somewhere near the fireplace, on which a small copper (and highly polished) kettle can be made to heat water. Electric tea kettles would do even better, and can be used in any American bedroom. I'm suggesting this because you can heat your water while you bathe or dress, and drink it, with a little salt in, if you like, to make it tastier, before you go down to breakfast.

It will wash out the system, clear away blotches on the skin, make the skin finer, whiter, prettier than ever before. Incidentally, it will do away with a lot of digestive and liver ailments I won't chronicle here.

Last thing at night, rub the skin with a good cold cream, flesh making if you are thin, astringent if you are more than 29 or 30, cleansing cream if you are young and have an oily skin naturally. Wipe off with a wad of cotton. This takes all the dirt, dust, grime, the secretions of the skin, powder, etc., from your face and neck, leaving them daintily clean for many hours. This also does away with dry skin, and wrinkles that come from that.

This night time and morning time habit is the best sort of thing to form. It means external and internal cleanliness, and clear eyes, skin and mind, too, as a result.

M. B.—Miss S. G.—I do not think you would gain in any way by having your skin peeled, because you would find the same condition on the underside as you have now. If you could have a skin specialist treat you, it would hasten the recovery, but if you can't, take your own treatments with an eye to stimulating the circulation so as to bring the blood to the skin. This will improve the action of the glands in and under the skin that will produce healthier conditions.

The little pits and blotches will gradually disappear as the whole condition is improved. A daily full warm bath, ending with a cold shower, will help much, so will ice rubs after you have either washed or cleared the soil from your complexion with creams.

K. H.—The advice above on bathing and clearing complexion answers your inquiry about caring for the skin.

You should consult a doctor about the granulated eyelids, and when you are cured of the trouble your lashes will grow again.

Try quarter of a teaspoonful of baking soda with the lemon juice to help keep your hair light.

COMEDIES

YOST BROADWAY THEATER

To the accompaniment of the primitive elements of the desert, Irene Rich depicts the terrific battle of the two most powerful kinds of love which may possess a woman's being in "The Desired Woman," the film opening tonight at the Yost Broadway.

These are mate love and mother love. She is seen as a woman who has left the luxurious, sheltered life of London society to become the wife of the commandant of an isolated outpost in British India. After three years of desert existence and association with brutalized men she welcomes a young soldier fresh from home.

Her husband is unreasonably jealous, and in the process of "making a soldier" of the lad almost kills him, so when her husband has taken the garrison out on one of his raids on hostile natives she persuades him to leave, and he persuades her to accompany him.

WEST END THEATER

Tonight marks the last showing of the swiftly paced comedy of business life, "For Ladies Only," that has been showing to highly appreciative audiences at the West End theater. A sparkling tale of a young office manager who vainly tries to prove that there is no place for women in a business office—this screen story, with clever direction, competent players and a host of genuinely funny situations, is as pleasing entertainment as one could desire.

Jacqueline Logan and John Bowers in the leading roles give delightfully convincing interpretations of their respective parts.

BLANKET EDGINGS

To make your room gay and to protect the blankets, baste wide bandings of colorful wash goods across the ends nearest your face.

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING

A housewife who makes much of Christmas keeps a pad in the kitchen from early fall on and jots down any ideas for presents that occur.

CEDAR CLOSET

You can make your own cedar chest if you chose an air-tight one, and paint entirely with cedar oil several times.

Manuscript Of Boswell In U. S.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—In a leather suitcase which reopened in the purser's vault during the trip across the Atlantic, Colonel Ralph H. Isham, of Glen Head, L. I., brought a musty collection of original Boswell manuscripts to America aboard the White Star liner Majestic.

Some faded and dimmed by time, but many in excellent state of preservation, they remained unknown to anyone in an ebony chest in a Scottish castle for more than a century. While Colonel Isham would not tell the cost of purchase, he valued the collection at $114,000 pounds, or nearly $570,000, for insurance purposes.

Boswell scholars regard the collection as the most extensive and valuable in existence, and Colonel Isham's arrival ended a temporary mystery concerning their ownership. Misunderstanding had arisen from a report in a London paper, which misquoted Lord Talbot de Malahide, great-great-grandson of Boswell, from whom Isham had purchased the manuscripts.

Lord Talbot, according to later dispatches, had said "the box had not been sold," referring to the ebony casket containing the valuable and recently discovered collection, and not to its contents. Isham's arrival seemed to remove the final doubt.

"The collection," he said, "I regard as the most remarkable literary discovery of the last hundred years. I have shown it to the officials of the British museum as well

Scripps College Given $500 Bond

CLAREMONT, Dec. 14.—In tribute to the work of Miss Ellen Browning Scripps, distinguished newspaper woman and benefactor of many colleges, Cromble Allen, editor of the Ontario Daily Express, has given a $500 bond to Scripps college, founded by Miss Scripps.

The bond provides for an income of $35 annually to be used for students aid or for a prize in some department of the college.

Allen in presenting the gift to the college wrote: "Thinking on the great many things she (Allen Browning Scripps) is doing for women in 1927 by founding Scripps college, it occurred to me that Scripps college might use a small 'filler' from a newspaper man who had not yet appeared on the scene when Miss Scripps wrote her first 'fillers'."

JACK LOCKWELL

By Patten

The barn stood on the land of a farmer whose house had been struck by lightning, and burned down. Jack purposely arrived very late. The place was lighted by rows of Japanese lanterns, and a four-piece orchestra in Hungarian costume was discoursing lively music. A great swarm of boys and girls in striking costumes was going through the Virginia Reel.

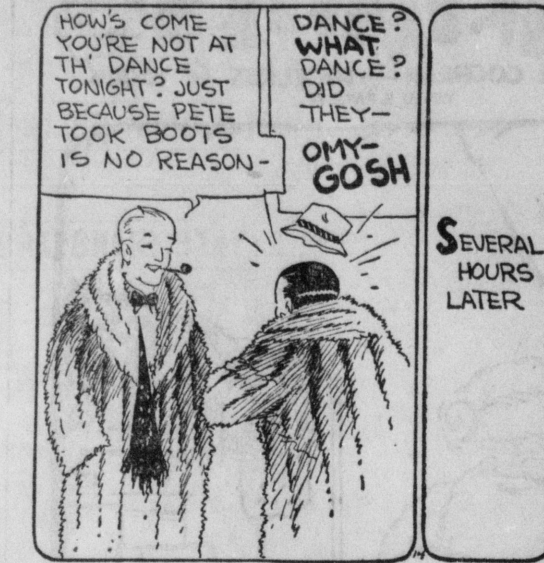

Clowns, highwaymen, cowboys, negroes, thugs, soldiers, sailors, King Neptune and Old King Cole, they were there, dancing with girls in equally picturesque disguises.

They hadn't observed Lockwell, who had paused in a shadowy spot. "I told you he wouldn't come," said the pirate in a tone of disappointment. "Sh! no sound!" cautioned the policeman. "Maybe he's here, and we haven't seen through his disguise. Let's look again." "Oh-ho!" muttered Jack to himself as they moved away. "I think I know you birds!" (To Be Continued)

GLAD WE AGREE

Yesterday we commented on the billion and more dollars proposed to expend in the expansion of the navy. The news dispatches had declared in the morning that President Coolidge was favorable, though not inclined to be so when first presented to him. We urged that his first reaction was undoubtedly the best and after the editorial was written, but before the publication of the paper, the dispatches were corrected and the announcement made that the President had not changed his opinion from his first impression. In other words he was opposed to such an extensive navy program. We are glad of this. It is in harmony with the position of the President heretofore taken and insures reasonable plans at Washington. By the way our cartoon today is apropos to this idea.

FAVORABLE DECISION SHOULD BE RENDERED

Newport Harbor and its development are of very vital interest to all the people of Orange county and particularly to Santa Ana. The city of Newport Beach has recently applied to the district engineer, United States army, to connect Parkinson Island to the main land at the west end of Newport Bay. This is the preliminary step looking to the general development of the area which embraces a hundred and five acres. Those who know the situation there realize that this means a considerable proportion to the usable area of Newport Beach.

We believe that all who have looked into this matter and understand it are very desirous of co-operating in every way possible to enable Newport Beach to obtain such a decision as to permit this bridge to be constructed and we believe any and all support which it is possible to render by our organizations and citizens should be given.

The erection of the bridge will in no way interfere with navigation and does not add a dollar's expense in the way of taxation to Santa Ana or the county. In fact, we believe it is the plan to assess the expense of the construction of the bridge which is in the neighborhood of $25,000 on the specific property to which access will be made by a bridge.

The opening of this new area means more wealth for Orange county as well as for the city in which the particular tract is situated. It means a new section capable of housing several thousand in population and its importance is perfectly manifest. It is another big forward step in the rapid development of the bay region.

We are sure that Santa Ana, knowing the nature and need of this improvement can be counted upon to lend its fullest support to the project in every way and we hope that when the district engineer conducts his hearing at Newport Beach on Friday next that Santa Ana and the county will be well represented and will unreservedly urge the early approval of the project.

AFTER TWENTY-FIVE YEARS

On December 8, Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes of the United States Supreme Court celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of his elevation to the Supreme Bench. His has been a notable career. It has been the most important period in the history of the Supreme Court. More questions of vital import affecting the interpretation of the Constitution have arisen during the last twenty-five years than in all the preceding history of the court. It has been the period when the Constitution of the United States has had to be interpreted in the light of the growing needs of an expanding nation which were never contemplated by those who framed that great document. Justice Moody who was elevated to the court at about the same time as Justice Holmes, and also an appointee of President Roosevelt, once told the writer just before his death that had not the Supreme Court stretched the meaning of the Constitution beyond the thought of the framers, the United States Government could not have carried on. He had in mind at the time the Insular Tariff case, which made it possible for the United States to hold possession under the flag, but not under the Constitution.

During all this period Justice Holmes has been a member of the Supreme Court, and his wisdom and learning have played an important part in the decisions of the Court. Born an aristocrat, his sympathies have been strong with the common people. With Justice Brandies, another great jurist, he has written some of the most important decisions which the court has handed down. He has maintained in his theory the powers of the Federal government and the States, but he has been jealous of the rights of the individual citizen to an unusual degree. He has been a hard worker, and even now at the age of over eighty-five, his mind is as clear and his physical vigor is as great as it ever was. There is no member of the bench who has worked harder, and whose written decisions are more lucid.

Justice Holmes represents in himself the best traditions of a Puritan inheritance. With his fine culture and his broad sympathies he has been the most responsive member of the court to the changed conditions of our time. With the possible exception of Justice Brandies he has faced the questions of the new age with a vision not commonly associated with a man of his years and inheritance. He has been an honor to the court, a jurist who has called out the universal confidence and the intellectual respect of the men of his high profession. No doubt the natural conservatism of the court in these days of reaction following the war has been very much tempered by this wise, this cultured, and this broad-minded jurist. A keener mind than his has not been known on the bench since John Marshall lifted the Supreme Court to a place of world eminence among the judicial bodies of the nations. We hope, despite his advanced age, that Judge Holmes will yet continue many years to grace the court of which he has been the most gifted and the broadest-minded member in many generations. It is difficult to compute the value to the nation of a man like Justice Holmes.

Stamps and Other Expenses

Kansas City Star

Friends of Smith and Vane point out that it is an expensive business making a campaign these days; that it might easily cost a million dollars to send four or five campaign letters to each of the 2 million voters of Pennsylvania, for instance. One postage stamp for each voter would amount to $40,000.

Yes, we know all about that. The trouble is the country suspects the million wasn't used to buy stamps.

Freedom of the Press

Riverside Tribune

It is not surprising that the new governments that have developed since the World War have curtailed the freedom of the press and have allowed only favorable news stories to be sent to the rest of the world about their internal affairs. That was what the great powers taught them to do during the war. Nothing was allowed to be sent past the censors excepting propaganda news—if there is any "news" that may be so designated.

The Soviets have maintained a strict censorship of Russian news, sincerely believing, no doubt, that the end justifies the means and that anything reflecting upon the success of the Russian experiment or unfavorable expression of opinion about it, is harmful.

Mussolini has muzzled the press of Italy until there are none but government controlled newspapers. Even international press associations are allowed to file nothing excepting dispatches that have first been censored or rewritten by the Mussolini agents to conform to what Italy wants printed.

It is bad enough to muzzle the press during war times and feed the masses only such news as will help to keep them inflamed to a battle pitch; but it is much worse to delude a people in peace times with the idea that they have a destiny to rule the world.

Time Limits on Marital Planets

Fresno Republican

Speaking of the picturesque but frequently fantastic "grounds" for divorce that are so frequently given, why would it not be a good idea to put a strict time limit on the use of these grounds?

It was an old principle of the law of our fathers that if a wife was unfaithful, and the husband forgave her, he was thereby establishing a precedent, and could not thereafter seek a divorce on that particular charge.

Perhaps this is too harsh. But it would be reasonable to say that any specific act, forgiven, should not be permitted to be used in a divorce proceeding. Thus, if a wife throws a soup tureen at her husband's head, he should at once make an issue of it, or forgive it. If forgiven, then he could not go to a lawyer with a plea that that particular dish had caused him extreme mental anguish.

And likewise, if the husband insists on eating onions, to the wife's distress, she should settle the matter once for all. If she lets him eat onions the first year, he has surely established a vested right to the second and third years' onions without having it mentioned in the divorce complaint.

Leastwise, the law would, with this time limit established, be put in the absurd position of dissolving a marriage on the plea of extreme cruelty, when the fact is that the man or woman has finally made other arrangements, and answering the queries of counsel, digs up out of the recesses of memory, some "cruelties" that will sound well in court.

TESTS SHOW PART DIET HAS IN TUBERCULOSIS

Although it was proved many years ago that tuberculosis is caused by a specific germ, the disease has not yet been eliminated as one of the major causes of death of man.

Specific methods of treatment attacking the germ have not been satisfactorily established, nor has any drug been shown to have special virtues in overcoming the disease.

Primary among methods of treatment are the provision of adequate nutrition, proper amounts of rest and exercise, and exposure to fresh air and sunlight. Special attention always has been given to the question of providing adequate food. Apparently this well grounded method of treatment is now supported by scientific evidence of great interest.

Laboratory Study

Workers in the department of biochemistry and bacteriology of the University of Cincinnati have just made public the results of some investigations on rats which are of great importance in this connection.

The white rat has long been thought to be almost immune to tuberculosis. Several experimenters who have studied the effects of the injection of germs into rats were convinced that it was of all animals least susceptible to this disease.

The Cincinnati investigators, noting that the rat is susceptible to deficiencies of vitamins, determined to find out whether the naturally high resistance of the white rat to tuberculosis could be lowered by decreasing the amount of calcium and vitamin D in the rat's diet.

They found that rats from normal mothers receiving an abundance of both calcium and cod liver oil were immune to fairly large doses of tubercle germs, whereas those with a diet deficient in calcium and vitamin D developed unmistakable lesions of tuberculosis in the lungs following the injection of comparatively small amounts of tubercle bacilli.

Rats receiving adequate diets both before and after inoculation were able to resist from four to ten times as large a dosage of germs without becoming infected.

Develops Susceptibility

Another series of experiments was planned to show the effects of a deficiency of vitamin D without a deficiency of calcium. When the vitamin D was decreased greatly, the white rats lost their high immunity to tuberculosis and seemed indeed to develop a susceptibility.

Gloomy winter weather with a distinct absence of sunlight forces rats, as it does human beings, to obtain a large part of their supply of vitamin D from their diet. If the vitamin D content of the diet is lowered, rickets develops and there appears to be an increased tendency to tuberculosis.

THE MAN AT THE GAS STATION

Who is the robber's nightly prey?
Who does he visit every day
And with his money run away?
The man at the gas station.

Who nervously must walk about,
And watch all folks, the lean and stout,
To see the pistol coming out?
The man at the gas station.

When two or three hold highwaymen
Find they're in need of "five" or "ten"
Who is the first they think of then?
The man at the gas station.

Who never can be worry free,
Who lives in constant dread that he Ordered to "stick 'em up!" will be?
The man at the gas station.

Whose life must be one nervous span?
Who never knows and never can
A bandit from a gentleman?
The man at the gas station.

Should in my fortunes come a break
And I a fresh start have to make,
What is the last job I would take?

A Genius Changing?

America is full of starving geniuses who are inarticulate because they are afraid of hardness and loneliness, we have it on the word of a well known New York pastor, Rev. Dr. Robert Norwood.

Among the geniuses with whose history we are familiar, there are few, if any, to whom Dr. Norwood's description seems to properly apply. Certainly we have seen Genius starve, but never silently. As a rule Genius starves because he is Genius and because he speaks a strange tongue and bears a banner with a strange device that none can understand.

The prospect of hardness and loneliness does not daunt Genius, as we have found him. In fact, he loves it like a fern loves water. Genius can look upon the rest of us earth-bugs and understand. That's why there is no loneliness or hardness for your 100 per cent able-bodied Genius, first class. If he starves, he likes it all the better.

Men have painted great pictures through starvation and insanity were their only rewards. They have written great poetry, and their compensation has been disease which sapped their lives. Great statesmen have spoken against all precedent and have been hooted down, but had their say, and it proved the truth.

Genius doesn't need to be hunted up and feted. It fetes itself, by nature.

Yes, I beelieve I would, Im sure I would, espeshally if they happened to be clock stores, pop sed, and ma sed, Certenly, and the same thing applies to waying machines that applies to clocks. Wen you buy cigars on the avenue after this I wish you would buy them from the shop at this end of the block.

This is getting complicated, pop sed, and ma sed, Not at all, I got off the street car this afternoon and I felt unusually lite after all the dieting Ive bin doing, so I got on the scales at the farthest cigar store jest to verify my sispicions, and the hand flew around to 154, which is too ridiculous to mention, and the only reason I mention it is jest to show the differents in service wen I got on the scales at the nearest cigar store and it registered 155, and although I knew that wasent rite it is certenly a much more agreeable shock to tell a dieting woman that she ways too little than too much, and I took the trouble to go in and speak to the man about it and he very obligingly told me that the scale is slow by 8 pounds, so I easily figured out that Ive reely lost two pounds this week.

O.I see, I meen is that so? pop sed, Im a little bit dizzy but am I rite in supposing that you would like me to try to tell the time from the waying machine at the nearest cigar store insted of the ferthest as Ive bin in the habit of doing? he sed, and ma sed, O, try not to be eny sillier than you are naturally.

And she kep on darning holes out of stockings and pop got in back of the sporting page and stayed there.

CURRENT COMMENT

By CHESTER H. ROWELL

THE Interstate Commerce Commission has won a notable victory for the cause of rate regulation by the decision of a special Federal Court at St. Louis sustaining the valuation of the railroads at their original legitimate cost, rather than at what it would cost to reproduce them. This has always been the rule of the interstate commission and of practically all of the state commissions. If it is sustained by the Supreme Court, on appeal, it will be the established law, and regulation can go ahead on that basis. If, on the other hand, the court grants the contention of the railroads, public regulation is in chaos and the rates might as well be "all the traffic will bear."

PERHAPS the difficulty is that the commissions originally adopted a rule which was practically sound rather than theoretically correct. The real purpose was to give the railroads the rates necessary to maintain the service, and no more. That means the cost of rendering the service, including the cost of getting the money necessarily invested in it. Unless railroads can get the money for rails and cars, they can not buy them, and no one will invest that money unless he thinks he can get it back, with interest. The rate which will produce this result is the right rate. More is not necessary, and less is, in the long run, impossible. Since this is the result to be obtained, it would also have been a correct theory of action.

UNFORTUNATELY, rate regulation began with a system of hocus-pocus financing already in existence. Much of the older stock on which railroads were supposed to pay dividends was represented, not actual investment, but "water." There was no way, by mere bookkeeping, to find what was the actual investment. So the device was adopted of appraising the property usefully employed at its legitimate original cost, and allowing a return on this. It was assumed that this would be practically the same as the legitimate investment, and it was more definitely ascertainable. So rate making, first for railroads and then for other public service corporations, has continued on this basis.

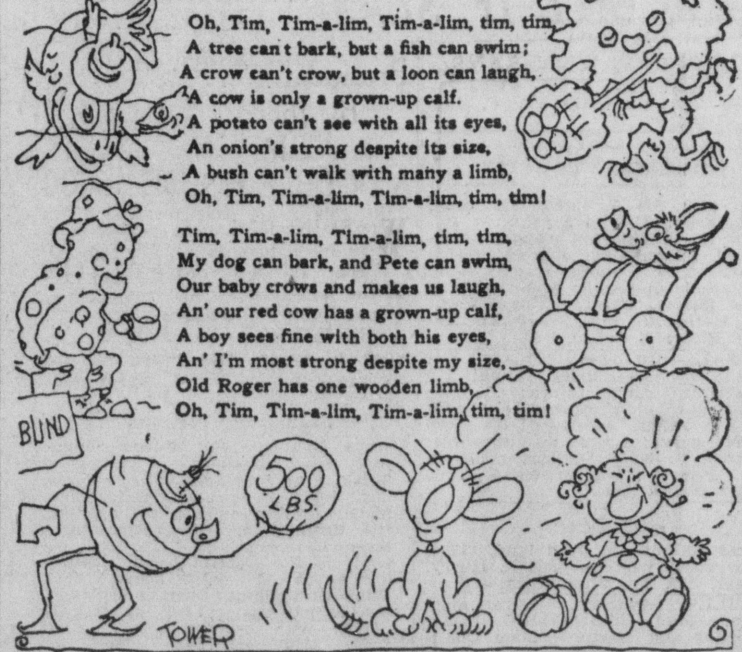

BUT, if property value was the theoretical basis, the legal theorists of the companies at once drew the conclusion that it must be present value, measured by what it would now cost to reproduce the property. Logically, there was much to be said for this conclusion, and the courts, being logicians, have shown some tendency to adopt it. Its fallacy is in the assumption that the original property basis was a principle of right, instead of being merely a practical device to get approximately at something else. So there was real danger that the courts, inside their syllogistic mental vacuum, might correctly draw this false conclusion from an originally false premise.

PRACTICALLY, the result would be disastrous, not merely to rate payers, but to the railroads and public service corporations generally. It would theoretically call for an immediate increase of rates, which, in many cases, would be more than the traffic could bear. Some street car companies are in that situation now. They are legally entitled to rates which experience shows the people will not pay. So the actual rate is whatever they can get. With many of the railroads, the claimed valuation would justify increases in freight rates so high that less freight would move. The result would be loss to the railroads, as well as disaster to whole communities and industries. Such rates, of course, can not and will not be charged. But the very theory which would justify them would leave rate-making bodies helpless. They would be practically compelled to grant whatever rates the railroads thought they could collect. That would be the same as no regulation. It would first bring back the old system of unregulated rates, and would then produce an irresistible demand for public ownership.

Tim, Tim-a-lim, Tim-a-lim, Tim, Tim

By SHIRLEY RODMAN WILLIAMS.

CHILDREN love jingles—just words which may or may not mean something. Often little children will be heard chanting seemingly meaningless syllables which give pleasure by jingling. The chant, Tim, Tim-a-lim, Tim-a-lim, tim, (tim, for instance, dominated our childhood. "We had an old horse, Hanse, who would dance and roll his eyes as we clapped our hands and chanted; a big rooster would strut and crow to our delight, and the rhythmic, fabled for all child chants. Grown-ups often rebuke a child, "Don't keep saying that nonsense!" and fail to recognize that that nonsense has definite significance to the child and affords him distinct pleasure.

Oh, Tim, Tim-a-lim, Tim-a-lim, tim, tim,
A tree can't bark, but a fish can swim;
A crow can't crow, but a loon can laugh,
A cow is only a grown-up calf.

A potato can't see with all its eyes,
An onion's strong despite its size,
A bush can't walk with many a limb,
Oh, Tim, Tim-a-lim, Tim-a-lim, tim, tim!

Tim, Tim-a-lim, Tim-a-lim, tim, tim, tim,
My dog can bark, and Pete can swim,
Our baby crawls and makes us laugh,
An' our red cow has a grown-up calf,
A boy sees fine with both his eyes,
An' I'm most strong despite my size,
Old Roger has one wooden limb,
Oh, Tim, Tim-a-lim, Tim-a-lim, tim, tim!
